Liz on the Hill

Report from Parliament Hill by Elizabeth Dickson

Parliament is back at work, unemployment is up, the popularity of the two major federal parties is down, Canada's master inquirier - Tom Cossitt - has died, Neil Fraser has lost his first appeal, and the Queen could be on Canadian soil within ten days.

SILENCE IS GOLDEN

When the division bells on Parliament Hill finally stopped March 17 at 2:28 pm they had been ringing for 14 days, 22 hours and 8 minutes. The MPs, including the Tories, had finally assembled to vote on the PC adjournment motion of March 2. A quick vote defeated the motion 131 to 107 (i.e. the majority had voted not to adjourn. However, the speaker then ruled that "After long consideration, I can state that it is now past ten o'clock on Tuesday, March 2. As it is too late to begin the sitting on the 17th at the time prescribed (i.e. 2 pm), the sitting is now adjourned."

The Tory boycott of Parliament had finally been ended when they accepted an offer from the Liberals to use Conservative proposals concerning the Energy Security Bill as a basis for further discussion and allocated Thursday and Friday as opposition days in the House of Commons. This left all the time between 2 pm Wednesday and 2 pm Monday for negotiation on the details of modification of the infamous bill.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS UP

Statistics Canada reports that unemployment in Canada for the month of February is higher than in any other month in the past 30 years. 1,116,000 people were officially unemployed. At the opening of Thursday's sitting of the House of Commons, three MPs rose "on matters of urgent and pressing necessity" to propose motions arising from especially devastating increases in unemployment in their ridings.

Mr. Joe Reid (St. Catharines), noting that there had been an 18% drop in employment due to the decline in the automotive industry, moved "that the Minister of Finance bring a halt to his insane high interest rate policy that is destroying the new car market and keeping auto workers on the Unemployment Insurance Commission line."

Mr. Bob Corbett (Fundy-Royal) brought to light a situation in which unemployment has reached 40%: "In view of the fact that the Miramichi region of Chatham and Newcastle has a work force of 18,000 people and 8,000 of them do not have jobs, I move . . . that the Liberal government can its plans to can CFB Chatham, which will can another 3,500 jobs, and, while it is at it, can the minister who originally proposed it."

And finally, Mr. John Bosley (Don Valley West) pointed out the 26% unemployment rate in the Gaspé in his motion "that the Minister of State responsible for Quebec Affairs make a statement on motions explaining why he has not been able to get cabinet to take whatever action may be necessary to remedy this intolerable situation."

As unemployment climbs steadily higher, it begins to dawn on those lucky enough to have a job that it is the jobholders, the taxpayers of this country, who must foot the bill for the increasing numbers of unemployed. It is in the interests of every man, woman and child in this country to be imaginative, and to use initiative in a constant effort to create employment.

OPINION POLL

Mr. Jesse P. Flis (Liberal MP from Parkdale-High Park) had an imaginative idea for saving a little money last Thursday in the House of Commons:

"Whereas every member, before taking his seat in the House of Commons is requested to subscribe an oath of allegiance, and whereas the Conservative members broke their oath of allegiance by mischievously not attending a sitting of this House since March 2, 1982, I move . . . that all Conservative members who refused to carry out their sworn duties as elected members of this parliament be docked one days pay for each sitting day that they did not perform their duties as elected and sworn to do."

Needless to say, there was not unanimous consent for this motion.

Not only were the Conservatives unpopular last week in the House of Commons. The latest Gallup poll tells us that between January and February of this year, the popularity of the Tories fell from 40% to 36%. But they were not alone. Liberal popularity fell from 38% to 35%. The slack was taken up by the NDP with an increase from 20% to 26%.

CANADA'S CONSTITUTION

Last Thursday the House of Lords approved the principle of the Canada Bill and the second reading vote carried with no dissenters. Tuesday the bill was studied clause by clause in committee, and tomorrow the third and final reading will take place.

This week's grapevine suggests that the Queen will come to Canada April 3 to proclaim the new constitution April 5.

NEIL FRASER LOSES

Neil Fraser, the civil servant who lost his job as a result of his criticism of the government's role in metric conversion and patriation of the constitution, has been rejected by the Revenue Department in his appeal. The Public Service Alliance of Canada has applied to the Public Service Staff Board for a hearing on his behalf.

THE LATE TOM COSSITT

Tom Cossitt, Conservative M P for Leeds Grenville since 1972, has asked thousands of questions in the House of Commons since that time (1,241 in the current session of Parliament). His death Monday night, March 22, at the age of 58, was a shock to his many colleagues. "Tom Cossitt will be remembered . . . as a man of principle and as a skilled and creative parliamentarian . . . (he) had deep convictions about what was good for his country, and he acted on those convictions with an intensity which quite probably shortened his life . . . (he) believed firmly that governments should be accountable to the people," said the Hon. Joe Clark.

Adding his respects, the Hon. Allan MacEachen (in his role as Deputy Prime Minister) said, "When death strikes one of our colleagues we are all reminded of the particular burden of stress and responsibility borne by those in public life. Tom Cossitt . . . knew the risks involved in maintaining his accustomed pace of activity, and he accepted those risks as the price of public service."

Mr. Edward Broadbent also praised Mr. Cossitt as "an outspoken member of Parliament . . . and a man with a genuinely independent spirit."

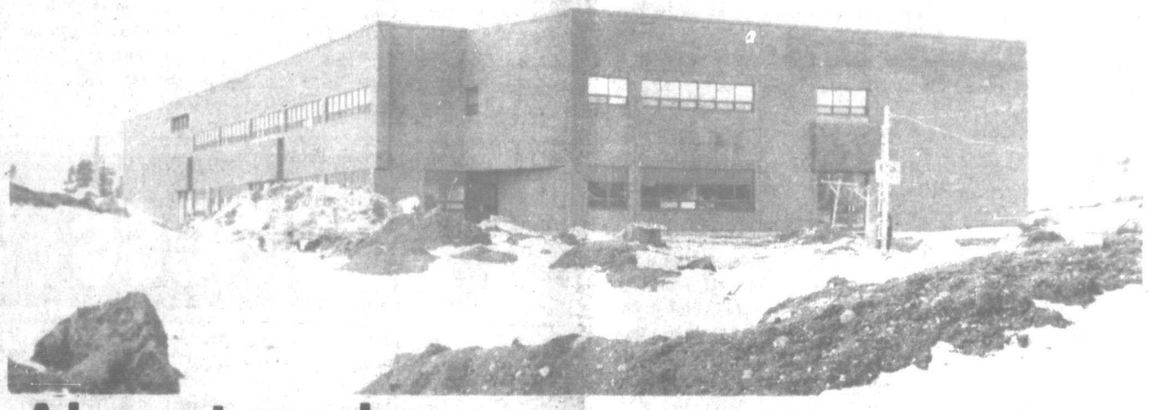
ENERGY BILL DEAL

After five days of negotiating, agreement has been reached on handling of the Energy Security Bill. It will be divided into eight separate parts, sent to a Special Committee for study, have time limitations on all eight parts, and will be entirely disposed of by June 30, 1982 at the latest.

The Tories say this deal will assure proper scrutiny of the bill. The Liberals say they would have been willing to make this deal at any time, without the theatrics of a boycott of parliament.

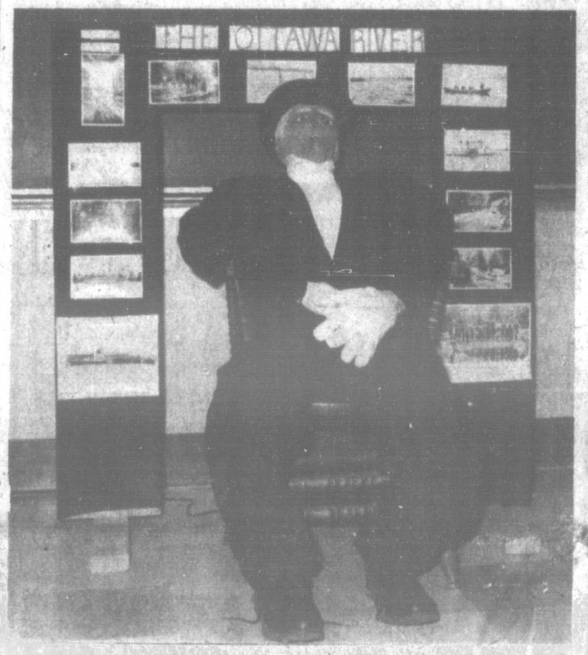
Meanwhile, one of the lessons many are drawing from the two week impasse is that certain parliamentary procedures need to be reformed. In fact, Joe Clark made use of last Thursday's opposition day to introduce a motion that a Position Paper on The Reform of Parliament, prepared during his time as Prime Minister (Nov. 23, 1979) be used as a basis for discussion.

Unfortunately, the Liberals and Conservatives seem to be too mad at each other right now to carry on a balanced discussion of reform. (Some might add "or anything," but I won't.)



Almost ready....

The new high school at Campbell's Bay is nearing completion. The student body, which has been temporarily housed in the Victoria Avenue School, Shawville, is anxious to move into the new building. The temporary arrangement has prevailed for a dozen years during which time the English speaking Roman Catholic pupils travelled many miles to school every day. The more central Campbell's Bay location will be more convenient for most and the brand new facilities will give a great lift to student and teacher morale. Now the big question is, "When will it be ready to occupy?"



This old riverboat captain periodically narrated the history of the G.B. Green on the Ottawa River during the Open House. Prepared by Chris MacKechnie, the display featured a recording of Reg Scobie reading the script in his very authentic sounding riverboat captain's voice.

Almost every classroom was crammed with displays by the High School students: beautiful artwork; models of early settlements, volcanoes and farms; historical monographs; maps and many others.

Uranium brief comes off shelf

by Venetia Crawford

On November 7, 1980, PANAC, supported by six other environmental organizations, met with Environment Minister, Marcel Leger in Montreal to request that a full scale public enquiry be undertaken into Uranium exploration and mining in this province and presented him with a brief on this subject. M Leger asked for a year to take care of more pressing environmental issues. Now the year is up and PANAC is eager to see a follow up. On March 22, 1982, Mr Robert Middlemiss, M.N.A. volunteered to speak to M Messier, M Léger's attaché politique, to find out what has been done with the brief and what their intentions are for the future. If the results are not satisfactory, he intends to present the issue to caucus for discussion and for possible presentation in the National Assembly.

Mr Middlemiss is optimistic about the environmental situation in Quebec. He feels that public awareness of health hazards will force the government to listen to the concerns of the people. If the need for mining should ever arise in Quebec, he feels that the government will enforce enough governmental regulations that the people will be protected from pollution.

He pointed out that there are two factors that should prevent the need for nuclear power plants and the mining of the fuel, uranium. The first is the Hydro plant at James Bay which is producing more power than was formerly predicted. The second is the development of reservoirs near existing power plants. The water from these reservoirs would only be released during the periods of peak demand. One such proposed reservoir will be at Lac Proulx near Low.

The government is shying away from developing nuclear power as it is so expensive and such a volatile issue now. Gentilly-I, the nuclear power plant near Quebec City, has only operated 200 days in 10 years. Gentilly-II has defects that have not yet been repaired. Gentilly-III has been shelved for at least ten years. In other words, the production of nuclear power in Quebec is at a standstill. Mr Middlemiss said that with the water power we now possess, he cannot foresee the situation occurring in the near future where we would need nuclear power in Quebec.

Irish band honours St Patrick

David Dickson

French only signs

The Quebec Alliance, which represents the consolidating organization of several anglophone associations in the province of Quebec, has mounted a campaign to persuade the Quebec government to amend Bill 101 with respect to the section which now requires all signs to be in the French language only. The position of Alliance is simply that since the government wishes public signs to reflect the Quebec reality; and since Quebec is the third largest English-speaking city in Canada, and since Quebec contains a larger number of English speaking people than the four eastern provinces, it is obvious that the law does not reflect that reality.

Social service cuts protested by Péquistes

A group of nine Péquistes have declared themselves concerned with the way the 1982-83 budget seems to be going in Quebec. They feel that social services are going to be cut beyond the point where the cuts should be allowed. Their remedy is to hold on to social services at the proper level and raise taxes.

Alliance Quebec

A recent poll conducted for the CBC in the province of Quebec shows that six out of ten non-francophones said the Quebec government does not want them. Then Max Yalden, the commissioner of official languages, in his annual report stated that English-speaking Quebecers have been made to suffer a "painful sense of being less than welcome in their home province, . . . and have seen "the curtailment of many of their traditional liberties". One of the results has been the formation of non-francophone organizations, of which the moderate Alliance Group is the most recent. 25,000 Quebecers are now members, of whom 15,000 joined in the first week of its founding in January 1982. Eric Maldoff, Alliance president says "the one thing all these people share is that they don't know where to go and they're looking to find a way and a place to do something constructive".

Independence not the answer

President of the Montreal Board of Trade, Frank Roberts, has stated that independence won't make Quebec more prosperous. The solution to Quebec's problems, he said, lie in the exercise of greater fiscal and administrative responsibility by the government; and by securing better federal-provincial co-operation. In addition, he said, the business community requires the most stable economic climate possible.

Levesque supports Landry statement

Economic development minister Bernard Landry last week made a speech to the Canada-France Chamber of Commerce in Paris in which he compared the Quebec federal Liberal members to war-time "collaborators" who "betrayed their country". "I use (this name) in Quebec to describe Quebecers who took part in and approved this (Canada Bill) manoeuvre in Ottawa." Premier René Lévesque speaking later in the National Assembly, endorsed Landry's statement.

Province to inaugurate new aid program

Quebec has announced the creation of a $200 million emergency aid program for small businesses, which will provide loans and guarantees to companies which find themselves in difficulties arising from a shortage of working capital. The program is designed to help those who have not lese than 10 employees and not more than 500. To qualify, companies must have at least half of their manufacturing component situated in Quebec; and at least half of their employees must work in Quebec. Loans of up to $500,000 will be made available over a period of five years, with the government guaranteeing two-thirds of the amount loaned. The Quebec government will also pay three-quarters of the interest above 10% and below 25%. About 1,000 business are expected to benefit from the program, which is expected to save about 25,000 jobs in the next six months. The program will be administered by Quebec's Industrial Development Corp.

1980 road deaths down 17%

In its 1980 statistical report tabled in the National Assembly last week, the automobile insurance commission reported that in 1980, 1,491 people were killed on the roads of Quebec, compared with 1,789 the previous year. This represents a decrease of 17% in road fatalities. Those injured in road accidents totalled 62,631 in 1980 compared with 62,987 in 1979.

Billion dollar deal in prospect

Bernard Landry, Quebec minister of state for economic development, who is now in Paris, France, has indicated that he believes a billion dollar deal will shortly be signed with France for the establishment of an aluminum plant at Bécancourt. Official announcement of this gigantic project will likely have to wait for the arrival in Quebec of French prime minister Pierre Mauroy, expected in the month of May. Bécancourt is on the south shore of the St Lawrence, a few miles east of Three Rivers, and quite close to the nuclear power station at Gentilly. The aluminum refinery will be established by the French company Pechiney, which has recently been nationalised by the French government. Other industries with Quebec projects in the works but further in the future are Renault which contemplates the possibility of a parts manufacturing plant in Quebec; and even further off in the future, a plan to establish a Quebec plant for the manufacture of the European aircraft known as the Airbus.

How to "Branch"

An enterprising group had published a pamphlet entitled "Branchons-nous" which gives detailed instructions, to anyone who has had his electricity or gas cut off for non-payment of the bill, on how to connect it up again without the assistance of the supplier. Hydro-Quebec has sought to obtain an injunction to prevent the printing, sale and distribution of the pamphlet. The Superior Court has agreed to hear the case on March 18. Meanwhile 2,000 copies of the illuminating document have already been sold.

Charron to retain seat

Claude Charron, the government house leader who resigned from the cabinet four weeks ago, has returned to the National Assembly following an absence which started that same day. Before returning to the National Assembly, Charron attended a meeting in his constituency, at which the support he received convinced him to retain his seat in the House.

Bell President on Bill 101

In an address before the Canadian Club last week, Jean de Grandpre, president of Bell Canada stated that, in spite of the fact that most of the contents of Bill 101 had received and enjoyed wide approval and support, there were nevertheless certain aspects of it which did not meet with general approval. These aspects, he said, made it appear, incorrectly, that the majority of Quebec francophones wanted to turn Quebec into an island — without a bridge. De Grandpre had two sections of Bill 101 in mind which he felt were the main source of difficulty. The first was the requirement that public signs and posted information be in the French language only; the other, that most company names must be French. He cited two examples of the latter, namely Consolidated-Bathurst and Standard Brands.

Byelection candidates

Five candidates have declared themselves in the running for the St-Laurent (Montreal) provincial by-election to be held April 5. They are Germain Leduc, Liberal, 49, notary; Michel Boisvert, Parti Quebecois, economist: Dr Winifred Potter, Freedom of Choice, a former Rhodes Scholar, school commissioner; Robert Kendall, Libertarian, plant manager; Paul Desormiers, independent, who wants a union between the USA and Canada in exchange for a gift to each Canadian citizen of $1 million. The seat was left vacant in November when Liberal member Claude Forget resigned.

Backhoe shorts 25,000 volts

A dramatic explosion took place at the Place Fleur de Lys Shopping Centre, Quebec City, last week, when a backhoe, making repairs to the parking lot, accidentally touched an underground high-tension cable with its bucket. According to the operator, there wasn't supposed to be any power cable in the area where he was digging. The one he hit carried 25,000 volts, and caused damages estimated at $1 million.

Dorval vs Mirabel

Following a statement by federal transport minister Jean-Luc Pepin that he is considering moving all but short-haul domestic flights from Dorval to Mirabel; and that he would announce the final plans in May, an alternative has been brought forward by Quebec transport minister Michel Clair. His idea is to leave both airports as they are, unless it can be shown that a move of any part of the Dorval service to Mirabel would increase the total aircraft activity in the Montreal area. Further, that schemes should be devised for increasing the attractiveness of Mirabel from the viewpoint of the airlines, such as incentives for air cargo operators and special landing fees for Mirabel users.

Budget expansion

Legislation has been introduced by Cultural Affairs minister Clement Richard which will expand the powers and quadruple the budget of the Quebec-owned Communications and Cultural Industrial Development Corp. over a five-year period. The bill would double the present $10 million budget and guarantee a further $20 million in loans by the company. Companies eligible for loans will include those in the book publishing field, recording and video services, cultural properties, arts and crafts, and almost all communications services.

Fighting breaks out in National Assembly

The Members have finally taken to fist-fighting on the floor of the National Assembly. More precisely Yvon Picotte, Liberal from Maskinonge says he "socked Msurice Dupré (Péquiste from Saint Hyacinthe) in the eye" after Dupré had seized him by the tie. The action followed a lively verbal exchange which apparently involved the much-discussed Liberal election fund of $750,000 as well as the Charron affair. Government whip Guy Chevrette quickly intervened to stop the fight, which he said later only amounted to a sort of a light slap on the face. It has been held, according to the president of the Chamber, Claude Vaillancourt, that MNAs are immune from court action related to what they say in the National Assembly, but are not similarly immune with respect to their physical activities on the floor of the House. However MNA Dupré has said that no action will be taken, and that as far as he is concerned the matter is closed.

MP's court action

Four Quebec MP's have entered a court action for $440,000 against the St John Baptiste Society of Montreal because of an ad placed by the Society in Le Devoir last December. The ad named as "traitors" those Quebec MP's who voted in Parliament for the new Canadian constitution.

Why are these women such a valuable Canadian resource?

Canada is rich in resources. But our most precious resource is our skilled workers.

Right now, there are jobs in Canada which can't be filled because we're short of people with the right skills in the trades and new technologies. More and more, finding the right person for a job means finding the man or woman with the right training.

At Employment and Immigration we're creating a new National Training Program to assist in on-the-job and classroom training in the skills Canadian industry needs now, and in the future. Part of our program provides training for women in non-traditional jobs.

The rewards are great because training in priority skills is a key to job security in the 1980's. And more women are entering the trades each year. Last year over 22,000 women took part in on-the-job training. Thousands more benefitted from training in the technologies and other career areas.

That's an investment in Canada's skilled work force. It's an investment in Canadian industry. And it's an investment that helps Canada work.

HOW TO SAVE 2.8 BILLION DOLLARS

Premier René Lévesque has once more issued dire predictions about the coming economic woes of Quebec. It is true that the present situation is serious enough, but both Lévesque and Parizeau forecast several years of even worse things to come. Their solution is simple: Separate from Canada!

The strength and support behind the Parti Quebecois comes mainly from the ranks of the public and parapublic sectors, which include civil servants, teachers, hospital workers and police, among others. It is not a remarkable coincidence that these are the economic sectors which enjoy substantially higher levels of remuneration than any others in the Quebec economy.

Putting the figures together, the results come out like this: The budget for the year ending at the close of this month is approximately $20 billion, of which 52% or $10.4 billion is salaries to the public and parapublic sector. In a study recently conducted at the University of Montreal, and reported in THE EQUITY last week, it was stated that such salaries were on the average 37% higher than salaries in the private sector. Applying this percentage reveals that if the public sector salaries had been paid at the private sector rates, the total bill would have been in the neighbourhood of $7.6 billion. That is, if paid at the proper level, there would have been a savings of $2.8 billion on salaries and wages alone. The deficit this year will be around $3.2 billion, which, if the government had been minding the store properly, should have been of the order of $400 million. It can correctly be argued that this itself is a large deficit, but when compared first with the budgetary expenditure of $20 billion, and then with the actual deficit, it doesn't seem large.

The inescapable fact is that while the Quebec government is pointing the finger of economic blame at Ottawa, and at the same time saying that the only economic salvation for the province lies in separation, it is nevertheless obvious that the responsibility for our present plight lies squarely on the shoulders of the Lévesque government. The feds may not be the greatest when it comes to managing public monies, but Quebec's demonstration of fiscal ineptness is little short of terrifying. What would happen if the PQ were somehow able to break the province loose from Canada, and thus gain control over even more sources of funds through the ensuing broadening of the tax base, doesn't bear thinking about.

It is only fair to say that the public and parapublic unions can be seen to be aggressive and uncompromising; and that because of these characteristics it has not been possible for the government to hold the line on salaries in these areas to the level where they belong. There seems to be at least some truth in this viewpoint. However, another way of saying the same thing is to hold that the present government is at the beck and call of the unions; and this, surely, is at least as serious a charge as that of fiscal ineptitude.

HO HUM

Eleven years ago there was an editorial in THE EQUITY which noted that young Mayor Bobby Ladouceur of Mansfield almost lost his usual cool at the County Council meeting when everyone was talking about the County remaining together and nobody was talking about what happens next. Nothing much has changed since then except that Bobby Ladouceur is less young and is no longer Mayor of Mansfield. But what he said to the other Mayors still rings true: "Just being together isn't solving anything. Where are we going together?"

As a consequence of Bobby's speech, and with a lot of urging from Tom Lefebvre, an industrial committee was eventually formed. To continue quoting that 1971 editorial, it said that Tom repeated that "you just have to do something for yourselves if you want anything to be done for you." And he's one who knows because he is always trying to get his constituents to take advantage of some of the things that are available to them through the government. But it always requires initiative from the people who are going to benefit, and, as Tom tells us over and over, there are plenty of people who do take the initiative, but not too often from here.

Some of the people here can be excused for their distrust of government programs and their reticence to spend a lot of time working for futile projects, but the message from the governments is to keep trying.

Ideally, everyone should consider himself a part of the government. This starts at the so-called grass roots with things like school board elections, and we generally take a very casual interest in the likes of these. There may be a good reason why, for instance, one man in one of Pontiac's school municipalities nominated two men for school board on Monday and by Tuesday he couldn't recall whom he nominated. His two nominees made it uncontested but how can they feel that they represent anyone on that board when the man who nominated them forgot their names in one day? But we must at least give him credit for nominating them. Otherwise dear knows what would have happened.

This isn't typical, thank goodness, but it indicates just the sort of apathy that threatens to keep Pontiac at a standstill in perpetuity.

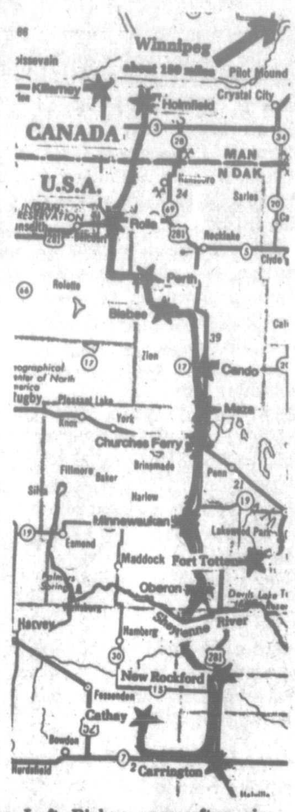
All the above is eleven years old stuff and we haven't the remotest idea to which school board we were referring. But aside from particulars, what has changed? And has anyone yet found an answer for Bob Ladouceur's question. Where, in fact, ARE we going?

Tillie goes West

Excerpts from Tillie's diary

By S. Wyman MacKechnie

In last week's episode, Tillie McCredie and her two children had travelled from Haleys Station to Holmfield, Manitoba by train, reaching there on July 14, 1893. After visiting there for a week and a half, they set out in an express for Carrington, North Dakota. When we left them they had just lunched in Rolla, North Dakota on the afternoon of their first day out.



We travelled through a muddy unsettled country and came to Perth, watered our horses and drove another seven miles to a place by the name of Bisbee. The people of this village are mostly Scandinavians. We stayed there all night and the six of us had to sleep in one room. It was so small that half of us had to go out until the other half was in bed. Jim's bed was so short his feet hung over the end.

July 26. A very cool morning. Left Bisbee soon after six, drove to Cando, a very fine village with some splendid buildings. This is the county seat of Towner County. Drove through another village by the name of Maza, bought some cakes there. Drove another eight miles to another village by the name of Churches Ferry. There is a very fine country around this village. We came another sixteen miles further to a town by the name of Minnewaukan. Bought more cakes and some oranges. Drove about a mile and took our tea by the roadside, fed our horses and rested while. Went on another eleven miles to Oberon and stayed at a very find hotel for the night. Two good rooms, clean and comfortable and a good stable for the horses.

July 27. We entered the Cheyenne (Sheyenne) Valley at half past seven in the morning forded the Cheyenne River and came to New Rockford, a distance of 16 miles and which is situated on the James River. Sixteen miles from New Rockford we came to our journey's end at my brother Joe's place near Carrington, N.D. It was a joyful reunion, we were both hungry and tired we had dinner and rested a few days. Joe's wife Ida could not have been better to us although the only one she had ever seen before was Jim and then only for a day or two.

Tuesday, August 1st. We all drove 18 miles to brother Alex at Cathay, North Dakota. Another joyful reunion and of course I had never seen his wife Lizzy before. Had dinner and tea then came back to Joe's at Carrington.

Spent the next few days looking around Carrington, meeting some of Joe's and Ida's neighbours. A very nice country but I would not want to live here.

Saturday, August 5. Alex came down to Joe's on the train. He brought a new pinny for Berna. Lizzie could not come so she made the pinny for her.

Sunday, 6th. Alex went home again taking Percy and Berna and me with him.

Monday, August 7. Lizzie (Alex's wife) and I drove to Sykeston a distance of six miles from Cathay and did some shopping. Came home and had dinner, lay around and talked all afternoon.

Tuesday, Aug. 8. Came back to Carrington on the train. Joe and Jim, their wives and all the children met us at the station and drove to Joe's for dinner. We got our things ready for a start back to Holmfield.

Wednesday, August 9. At half past seven we bade Joe, his wife and family goodbye. O, but, I did feel lonesome. We drove 32 miles and took our dinner in the Cheyenne Valley, beside a haystack and beside the river. Fed and rested the horses. It was a beautiful spot and the day was nice. Came along several miles when we noticed a terrible thunderstorm rising in the west. We drove hard for a few miles and came to a house at Fort Totten. We just got in when it burst forth in all its fury. The house was occupied by a Swedish family but the husband was away. The wife, Mrs Gustafsen, was very glad to see us as she was very much afraid because of the storm. We took our supper there and she let us make tea on her stove and she gave the children plenty of fresh milk. After the storm was over we drove several miles when it began to get very dark. We called in to a farm home and they were all in bed. They were Germans by the name of Pederson. The place was far from clean and their beds were all full. So the boy brought in a couple of armfuls of hay and laid it on the floor. We spread our quilts on that and the whole six of us slept soundly until morning.

This feature will be continued next week.

THE UNSIGNED LETTER

Such problems that ensue when we receive an unsigned letter to the Editor! One of these problems which is rare but real, happened to me last week. A friend came in to THE EQUITY office and handed me a letter to put in the paper. I said we would get it in right away.

It wasn't until later that I discovered the letter was not signed so I tried to recall who had handed it to me. Well, something serious happened to my ability to recall because I thought I remembered who it was and affixed his name to the letter. Now it turns out I was wrong. The letter was from the Lions Club, but I had the wrong Lion. As it happened it was not only embarrassing to me but also to the person whose name I wrongly put on the letter, because the letter was full of praise for the hockey tournament organizers and the name I chose was one of the organizers! It made it look as though he was praising himself, although everyone who knows him would know better, because the man happens to be one of the most devoted community workers we have and does not go in for self praise.

In a flash of inspiration I finally did remember who actually handed me the letter. In my own defense I must say it happened on a busy day when my mind was on many matters, but I should of course have asked him to sign the letter before promising to publish it. I could have held it over for another week, waiting for him to come back and sign it, but then I had promised him I would get it in the paper right away. There I was in the horns of a dilemma and as luck would have it I came out with the worse solution possible.

Which only goes to prove once more that you can't win 'em all!

Letters from our readers

Dear Sir:

As a taxpayer I strongly object to people's hard-earned tax money being given to the experimentation and planned nuclear radiation of dogs. These poor dumb, helpless animals die in needless agony with radiation only to satisfy their tormentors.

It would be greatly appreciated if you would do whatever you can to eliminate such cruelty.

Enclosed are two clippings from The Citizen on the subject of dog experiments.

Dog Experiments.

A petition of 4,516 signatures protesting the experimentation and planned nuclear radiation of dogs was presented in the House of Commons on Feb. 10. In addition, 40 protests from other countries were included in this presentation.

In order to fund this research a grant of $195,435 was given by the Canadian government to the University of Ottawa and $24,085 to Dalhousie University.

The practical implications of this type of research, which has been in progress for several months, are questionable and objected to by those who signed the petition — and even by some animal researchers. Taxpayers who object to this type of research should, therefore, indicate their concerns to their federal MP. John Deering Animal Defence League of Canada

In this day and age when animals are considered of such small account, isn't it nice to hear at least the baby seals are beginning to hold their own at last, thanks to the weather and a group of responsible people in Europe.

What a pity we can't have the same thought for the unfortunate dogs who die in needless agony with radiation, and bears who are doused in oil for the benefit of their tormentors.

I. Moore Ottawa.

Thank you.

Yours truly,

(Miss) Annie Gamble.

St. Patrick's Day, 1866, in Montreal

by Thomas D'Arcy McGee

The Hon. Thomas D'Arcy McGee wrote a letter to the Montreal Transcript describing the 1866 St Patrick's Day celebrations. Because many of his friends asked him to have this letter "in a more convenient shape than the newspaper form" he had it included in his book entitled The Irish Position in British and in Republican North America. The following are excerpts from this booklet.

"Judging from Saturday, with the thousands forming the procession, with proud banners waving, and the still greater thousands of approving spectators of all denominations, we have the assurance that, no matter what may be the occasion – either the sunshine of peace, or the cloudy tempest of war – we, as Canadians and British subjects, may grow up together and eventually form one mighty tree, which nothing but the will of Him 'who rideth upon the wings of the wind' can blow down.

The procession had nothing in itself that has not been often described; but it had this signification, that the thousands of Irishmen, confident of their moral strength, could march through the streets with their clergy, without a military escort, fearing nothing. Long before the hour appointed for Divine Service, the Church was crowded with a large and most respectable congregation. Hundreds of the citizens had to go away unable to gain admittance.

After the gospel the Rev Father O'Farrell ascended the pulpit and delivered an able and eloquent discourse from the First Epistle of St John, Chap. V, verse 4: 'This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.'

After a long historical retrospect, the Rev Gentleman concluded as follows:

Loyalty was ever characteristic of the Irish people. It was for clinging to their Chiefs, in days gone by, that Ireland had been most celebrated, and they must cling to their adopted country now, where their faith was protected, where they enjoyed the fullest civil and religious liberty – under whose laws they were safe and rested secure. Respect for others would make themselves respected; they would thus prove themselves true children of St Patrick, God's blessing would be upon them, and peace and happiness here and hereafter would be their portion. He prayed the Almighty, through His blessed Son, to drive away every element of trouble and division, of strife and of discord – making the people of this land happy, prosperous, loving, and contented."

The procession then re-formed and about half-past one o'clock they reached St Lawrence Hall where His Excellency the Governor-General, Lord Monck, addressed the Society.

"Gentlemen – As the representative of your Sovereign, I thank you for this exhibition of loyalty paid to me as her representative. I have reason to believe that the sentiments of my fellow-countrymen in Canada towards myself are of the most kindly description. (Cheers) But I do not consider this magnificent demonstration as one of personal respect to myself. I accept it as an evidence on your part of loyalty to our gracious sovereign, and of attachment to the institutions of our land; and further, as a protest on your part against the principles and designs of wicked men who would disgrace the name of Irishmen by their conduct, who have threatened to desecrate the day sacred to our National Patron Saint by a wanton attack upon this peaceful, prosperous, and happy community. (Cheers.)"

The procession then went down to the corner of the Haymarket and Craig Street, where the St Patrick's Hall was to be erected. A platform had been constructed on the roof of one of the small buildings at present on the site. From this platform Mr Devlin, the President of the St Patrick's Society, gave a short address.

"He expressed his hearty congratulations at the demonstration which had taken place. He believed it was the greatest that had ever been seen in the city within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. (Loud cheers.) He was satisfied that every Irishman present felt as proud as he did at the manner in which everything had passed off, at the friendly and kindly way in which all had been conducted. And it was pleasant to think that before twelve months were over, on this very site, would be erected a building, bearing the name of the Patron Saint of Old Ireland." (Great cheering.)

They would now have the pleasure of hearing some remarks from His Worship the Mayor, and he would therefore conclude by requesting them to give three hearty cheers for old Ireland. This request having been gloriously responded to, Henry Starnes, Esquire, (His Worship the Mayor) came forward and was received with great applause.

"He had the opportunity of watching the procession, as well as of taking part in it, and he declared it to have been the largest and the best, and the most orderly conducted that ever met in the city. He represented to those present the folly and the foolishness of removing their deposits from the Savings' Bank. Where could they be more safe than in an Institution of which their Bishop had the control, and which was watched over and guarded by their priests? (Loud cheering.) He would say, in conclusion, that today would mark an era in the history of this country – showing that the first commercial city of Canada was loyal to the heart's core, and let who would attempt to invade it, they would meet with a warm reception, and the old flag would be stuck to forever." (Prolonged cheering.)

Some remarks were also made by the Presidents of the St Patrick's Benevolent Society and the St John Baptiste Society, and other gentlemen, after which the following address was delivered by the Hon. Mr McGee.

"Gentlemen: One brief allusion to the memory we this day celebrate. It is not a day for revelling or ribald speeches; it is not a day for idle displays of brute force, or offensive demonstrations of any sort. Those who think it can be celebrated in any such way, short of sacrilege, know not what spirit they are of – they make for themselves a St Patrick's day, without St Patrick. What manner of man was he, whose eternal birthday we all turn out to signalize nearly fourteen centuries after his mortal death? A captive of the sword, torn violently from the land of this birth, sold into slavery, and condemned to the menial office of a swineherd, did he cherish an undying hatred against his persecutors and oppressors. Not so – not so. When he recovered his freedom, and was restored to his country, like a true disciple of the all-forgiving Master, he yearned for the salvation of the people who had enslaved him, and returned to the land of his captivity, to lead captivity captive. (Loud cheers.) This is the true lesson of St Patrick's life; his gospel was a gospel of peace, not of hatred; he besought Heaven for his people, as the son of David did in Gabaon, that they might have understanding hearts, "to discern good from evil." Whoever celebrates this day in any different spirit to this, is no true son of St Patrick – but a spurious spawn, a bastard breed, whose pretensions are a deadly insult to the legitimate children of the house. (Loud cheers.) I might follow our Apostle through every scene of his eventful life to illustrate the theory of his character, for still he manifests the same true character, whether herding swine, or dictating a code to Princes – but I must not detain you too long upon your feet – You have already given five or six hours to your celebrations, and you are no doubt anxious to disperse to your homes."

In the evening a Grand Concert was given in the City Hall, at which an immense number was present, amounting, we believe, to some 2000 persons. At eight o'clock the President (B. Devlin, Esq.,) entered the Hall, accompanied by the guests of the Society, amongst whom were the Hon. John A Macdonald, Hon. Mr McGee, Hon. Mr Cartier, and others.

On the completion of the programme the band played the National Anthem, which was greeted by cheers sufficient to raise the roof from the Hall, after which the large audience dispersed.

The Author

Thomas D'Arcy McGee (1825-68) was A Father of Confederation. Born in Ireland, he lived for two periods – 1842-45 and 1848-58 – in the United States before moving to Montreal. He was elected to the Legislative Assembly in 1858 and was in the Great Coalition Ministry that preceded Confederation. A delegate to the Charlottetown and Quebec Conferences and a brilliant orator, he made some influential speeches in favour of Confederation. In 1867 he was elected to the House of Commons and spoke out strongly against the Fenians. On April 7, 1868, he was assassinated by a Fenian (Patrick James Whelan) in Ottawa. Among his many books The Poems of D'Arcy McGee was published posthumously in 1869.

Classic with a new twist

The Bishops University drama department is presenting during March "A Midsummer Night's Dream" as their feature play of the year, but Shakespeare's classic has taken on an entirely new twist under the direction of professor Jake Roberts. Dream is set entirely in the deep south, not southern England, but the south of Scarlett and Rhett complete with drawling accents and post-bellum costumes. These changes are mentioned only as a warning to Shakespeare puristes who may intend to take in a highly interesting show. It's not quite what the Bard of Avon had in mind, but frankly, William, they don't give a damn. (The Record, Sherbrooke]

Stanstead fights to save registry

Over 1000 signatures were sent by a local Stanstead committee to Rene Levesque as part of the committee's attempt to keep the local registry office in Stanstead. Thirteen reasons were given in the petition: all organizations of the area wish to maintain the only presence of the provincial government in the border town sector; it is the anonymous wish of both MRCs and the municipalities and towns concerned that the Stanstead office be kept open; more than $40,000 were invested in 1973 by the community council of Stanstead for the modernization and expansion of the building; the provincial government contributed more than $22,000 towards this effort; the morale of the long time employees would be negatively affected by the move; they have the unconditional approval of the county's professionals who deal with this office (notaries and land-surveyors particularly); it will once more be the citizens of the sub-regions who will have to pay for this centralization (fuel expenses, phone bills and loss of employment.); there is no regular bus service between Sherbrooke and Stanstead; the cultural and historical aspects of the building; the impersonal element this centralization would add to future services; the financial uncertainty of the project dictates that in this period of budgetary compressions, we must consolidate what we already possess and look towards a global method of serving citizens who make use of the facilities, and are in fact, the financial overseers; this provincial presence helps keep people informed on questions relating to any kind of provincial organization.

End of confessional schools welcomed

Quebec's present system of confessional school boards has been studied by a group of 38 religious educators from the Hull Catholic diocese and judged to be "inadequate in the way it meets the needs of a society that is becoming increasingly pluralistic." The group, which is made up of both priests and laity, felt that the maintenance of Catholic and Protestant Boards continues to be unfair to all who do not belong to these groups.

St.Patrick's Day in Campbell's Bay

The Campbell's Bay Recreation Association sponsored an evening of entertainment to celebrate St Patrick's Day in Campbell's Bay Wednesday, March 17 and in Bryson at the Bryson Theatre on Friday, March 19.

The program began with the play "The Hangman's Tune" written by Venetia Crawford of Campbell's Bay. Susan McGinty (played by Sally Crawford) heroically sets out to save her father (Larry Black) from being hanged for a murder he didn't commit. During her travels she is joined by three leprechauns (Paula Morin, Robbi Devlin and Willy Rivet), their magic fiddle, a ghost (Allan Crawford) and Rufus, a Loup Garou (Billy Fenton).

Meanwhile the Sheriff (Murray Ranger), his deputy (Scott Smith) and the Hangman, Beelzebub (Andrew Vinters) prepare for a hanging just outside St Coristique Jail. With the help of magic handed down by Irish and French ancestors, the innocent man is set free. In the grand finale, his wife (Lois Smith), mother (Gwen Black), and two other children (Josée Morin and Lori Smith) join in the celebration of his release to the music of Lloyd Ostrom on the fiddle and Tony Rivet on the accordian.

The prompter for this production was Susy Walsh, sets were constructed by Allan and Sally Crawford, Bob Vibert, Gladys Belanger, June Burman and Phyllis Black, lighting was done by Bob Vibert and Phil Gabriel, make-up by Shirley Lance and costumes by Agnes Sparling and Gladys Belanger.

After the play a variety show was presented with Bob Vibert as Master of Ceremonies. The Helenettes danced and twirled with Françoise Corriveau, Nicole Bérard, Vicky Lance, Sylvie Mantha, Chantale Corriveau, Loise Dumouchel, Natalie Barbeau and Sylvie Dumouchel performing in close precision. Irvine Cole brought back images of our past with spirited renditions of Molly Malone and Galway Bay; Vicky Lance did a lovely solo ballet-jazz dance to "When I am King, Dilly, Dilly, you shall be Queen"; Tony Rivet played accordion while his Dad, Willy Rivet danced a jig; tiny Chantale Corriveau, winner of 27 trophies, performed a difficult baton twirling routine with great confidence; Eldon Ostrom and his students Jeffrey Lepine, Sylvie Ricard, Paula Romain and Louise Ricard stepdanced to the music of Lloyd Ostrom (fiddle) and Brent Ostrom (guitar); the Helenettes came back with a tap and jazz routine; Lionel Telford sang that all-time St Patrick's favourite, "Black Velvet Band"; Shirley Dubeau sang "The Little Shirt My Mother Made for Me"; her son, Carl Dubeau sang "Poor Poor Farmer"; Hélène Croteau did an awesome solo with two flaming batons; and the Brysonaires performed on into the night with a medley of Irish music.

The warm applause and spirited participation of the audience provided ample evidence of the success of the show — a tribute to the hard-working organizers.

Zion Lutheran ladies aid

by Mrs Walter Yach, President

At the March 10th mid-week lenten service with slides, Pastor Kappas greeted all with a warm welcome to the service. Three lovely hymns were sung.

The Ladies Aid held a brief business meeting immediately following the service. The catering to the Erfle-Stratigakmos wedding was discussed; and many plans made.

Tickets on the customary surprise package were sold, yielding a substantial sum.

The meeting was then adjourned.

After the meeting a birthday party was held for five members of the Ladies Aid. A sixth "birthday member" was absent. A lovely velvety little-piggy-bank was passed to each birthday member for a contribution of pennies equal to her age. Judging by the accumulation of pennies, each member must have been at least one hundred years old.

The members, their spouses and our visitors, then sat down to a table of goodies with Pastor Kappas asking the blessing.

At the appearance of the lighted birthday cake, baked and decorated by Mrs Ernie Bretzlaff a joyous "Happy Birthday" chorus was sung by all.

Following the distribution of gifts, thank-you's were heard from all directions including a special thank you from an eighty-two year old member.

And so ended another lovely evening.

Lest we forget . . .
When Quebec separates from Canada, the Pontiac should return to Ontario because the government offices of Pontiac are being gradually moved out and administered from elsewhere.

Canada Day Summer Hockey Series
P.O. Box 1085, Smiths Falls, Ont. K7A 5A5

Gentlemen:

The Ottawa Valley Selects is an All Star Hockey Club that operates during the summer months only. The purpose of the club is to give boys residing in the Ottawa Valley the opportunity to compete with players of Junior or Triple "A" calibre or better. Normally, these boys would be restricted to playing B, C or D calibre because of the population count for the areas in which they reside, and the new ODMHA zoning regulations that disallow out of zone transfers.

Five years ago a group of hockey enthusiasts formed this All Star Club, and we are presently entering our 6th season. One of the highlights of this endeavour is the annual Canada Day Summer Hockey Series, which this group organizes and operates out of the Arnprior Civic Centre during the annual Canada Day Celebrations. This year's series will be twelve days in duration and will host a total of 47 teams from Western Canada, Ontario, Ottawa, Quebec, New Brunswick, the USA and of course the Ottawa Valley Selects. We are now in the midst of preparing for this event and are requesting advertising assistance from your organization.

Would it be possible for you to advertise the tryout dates and who prospective participants should contact? Tryouts are held at the Smiths Falls Community Centre and the dates are: April 4, 9, 10, 11, 16, 17, 18.

In order to tryout, prospective participants must contact:

Residential energy analyses

ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC to reduce waiting period

ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC, the Québec home energy improvement program, has been a great success from the start. In the four months after it was launched on October 15, Hydro-Québec received more than 15,000 requests for energy analyses.

Because of this enthusiastic response and the time needed to set up any large-scale program, Hydro-Québec has been unable to answer consumers' requests as quickly as expected. ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC's immediate goal, therefore, is to reduce to six weeks the waiting period between the date when a request is received and the representative's visit to the customer's home.

Objectives and Conditions

ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC, which will be in effect for eight years, is designed to provide technical and financial assistance to homeowners and tenants who wish to improve the energy efficiency of their dwellings. Through these two forms of assistance, the energy consumption in one million dwellings will be reduced by an average of 32%, if the work recommended by ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC is carried out. Because it is physically impossible to visit such a great number of homes within a short time, only those built before 1961 are eligible for now. Gradually the program will expand to include all homes built before January 1, 1976. However, any dwelling, regardless of its date of construction, is eligible if the owner or tenant has applied for a COSP (Canada Oil Substitution Program) grant.

Technical Assistance

ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC has representatives all across Québec.

For a fee of $25 per dwelling, a representative will come to your home and make a detailed examination with respect to energy consumption. You will be supplied with:

- technical data on your home's thermal insulation shell (insulation, doors and windows, air infiltration);
- an analysis of the efficiency of your heating system if it is oil or gas-fired;
- an evaluation of the occupants' energy-consumption habits;
- specific recommendations concerning measures to adopt and cost-effective improvements that will reduce your energy consumption;
- an estimate of the cost and of the time it would take to recover your investment;
- a list of accredited firms in your region;
- a standardized contract to facilitate your dealings with a contractor;
- technical advice on how to select and install insulating materials, should you decide to do the work yourself.

If you have obtained a loan from Hydro-Québec, the representative will inspect the work after it is finished to see whether it has been carried out in accordance with his recommendations. If you have not obtained a loan, an inspection will be made only if you request one.

Financial Assistance

If you enlist the services of an accredited firm or a specialized contractor to have the recommended work carried out, you may obtain a loan from Hydro-Québec covering the cost of labor and eligible materials. If you decide to do the work yourself, the loan will cover only the cost of eligible materials.

The maximum term of the loan is five years, and the amount varies according to the type of home; for a single-family house, it can be between $300 and $3,000. Hydro-Québec offers a good interest rate (currently 15.75%), and the consumer can make monthly payments of $26, $52 or $78. These options are shown below as applied to a $1,000 loan.

Monthly Payment	Number of Payments	Final Payment	Total Repaid
$26	53	$23.35	$1,401.35
$52	22	$16.03	$1,160.03
$78	14	$10.12	$1,102.12

If you implement all the cost-effective measures recommended by ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC, your energy analysis fee will be refunded.

ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC is a joint program of the Bureau des économies d'énergie du Québec and Hydro-Québec.

If you are interested in ÉNERGAIN QUÉBEC, contact the customer service office in your region; the telephone number and address are on your electricity bill.

If you are not a Hydro-Québec customer, inquire at the customer service office nearest you.

Atom All Stars

by Joy Ellison

The Shawville Atom All-Stars have been busy with tournaments and their Upper Ottawa Valley semi-finals during the past month.

The All-Stars travelled to the Pembroke Tournament February 27 where they won 6-2 against the Napanee team. Scoring for Shawville were Marc Rodgers with 3 goals, Craig Hamelin scored twice and made 2 assists, Keith Cummings had 1 goal and 1 assist and Jim Young was credited with 2 assists. The next day the All-Stars returned to Pembroke where they played the Aylmer All-Stars. This was a close game which we lost 4-3 in overtime. Points for Shawville were earned by Jean St-Denis, Jim Young and Marc Rodgers. Assists were made by Keith Cummings, Marc Rodgers, and Andrew Hodgins. Craig Hamelin assisted 3 goals in this game and he was presented with the Most Valuable Player award.

On March 5th the team travelled to the Maniwaki Tournament. The first game against the Maniwaki Braves, was a hard, close game ending in a 3-2 victory for Shawville. Craig Hamelin and Jean St-Denis made one goal each, Jim Young made 1 goal and 1 assist and Keith Cummings earned one assist. Next morning, March 6th, our team played against Val D'Or with Wade Ellison earning the shut-out in the 3-0 win. The 3 goals were scored by Craig Hamelin, Andrew Hodgins and Jim Young, while Marc Rodgers was credited with 2 assists and Todd Smith earned one.

Our third game, played March 6 against Mont Laurier, gave Shawville a 3-2 win in overtime. Jim Young scored twice and Marc Asselin once. Craig Hamelin earned 2 assists.

Noranda was the opposition for the final game of the tournament. The game was tied one to one with only seconds to play when the Noranda team scored goal number 2 winning the Tournament Championship. Each member of the Shawville Team received a Finalist's Medallion. Craig Hamelin who had scored the only goal, was named Most Valuable Player.

Jim Young was declared the Best Offensive Player in the tournament. Also, the trophy for the Most Disciplined Club was awarded to the Shawville Atom All Stars. This was a much coveted award and a high honour for the Shawville delegation.

The team went to Petawawa on the evening of March 11 to play their first semi-final game. Although the boys played hard, we lost the game 3-2. Shawville goals were scored by Andrew Hodgins and Craig Hamelin.

Petawawa came to town March 14 for the second game which ended in a 2-2 tie. Craig Hamelin and Jim Young each netted one goal and earned an assist. As the semi-finals were set at 2 games total points, Shawville was beat out. This ends the Shawville Atom All Stars Upper Ottawa Valley League Play for this season.

Stress and chronic low back pain

The Psychology Department at McGill University, in collaboration with the Departments of Psychiatry and Physical Therapy, is studying the effects of everyday stress on chronic low back pain, in the hope of developing a more effective treatment approach for this disorder.

In order to accomplish this, the research team is recruiting adults between the ages of 25 - 50 whose pain problem has been diagnosed by an orthopedic specialist as "mechanical low back pain".

Participants will be reimbursed for any expenses incurred as a result of their participation, and each subject will be provided with a detailed, personal analysis of how stress influences his or her back pain.

Anyone who has experienced this type of pain for six months or longer — and who is willing to become actively involved in the study — is asked to leave a message for Dr Michael Feuerstein at (861-2784).

Lettre à l'éditeur

Cher editeur,

Nous tenterons de clarifier plusieurs idées fautives qui circulent depuis notre dernier carnaval. Huit ans passés, trois personnes (Ghislaine Denault, Anne Bertrand et Christine Bérubé) se sont présentées à une réunion du comité du carnaval de Fort-Coulonge afin de proposer un moyen d'élire une reine avec justice et honnêté. Suite à plusieurs obstacles et de longues discussions, nous en sommes sorties avec l'idée du premier GALA. Nous avions espéré mettre fin aux fameuses rumeurs: Tricher! Tricher! C'est arranger!"

Et pendant huit années, nous avions cru avoir réussi. Pour une fois les rumeurs s'étaient appaisées et voici pourquoi.

Les duchesses étaient jugées deux soirs par différents juges. Ces juges étaient des invités spéciaux à nos soirées et personne à l'exception du comité connaissait leurs identités. Ce qui empêche ces gens d'être influencés ou dérangés par les intéressés du Gala. Chacun recevait une enveloppe avec des pages de pointage avant d'entrer dans la salle. Le nom de chacune des duchesses étaient déjà inscrit; ce qui empêche une erreur en marquant les points. Le pointage est d'un total de 100 points par page. Il ne faut pas oublier que nombreux facteurs contribuent à ce total par exemple l'originalité, l'apparence, la féminité, la tonalité de voix, l'effort fourni, et combien d'autres. A la fin de la soirée, un(e) responsable est chargé(e) de collectionner les enveloppes déjà cellées et signées par les juges. Ces enveloppes sont gardées jusqu'au vendredi soir et le compteur officiel accompagné d'un témoin les reçoit ENCORE CELLEES et se renferme pour en faire le total. Cette personne prépare les enveloppes avec les résultats et les remets au Maître de Cérémonie. Ce(cette) dernièr(e) les ouvrira publiquement seulement au moment du couronnement. La différence entre la reine et la première duchesse peut-être très grande ou très minime même d'un seul point. Et alors les résultats sont connus et la reine est couronnée.

Alors les juges sont les personnes qui décident qui sera la reine d'après ce qu'ils voient les soirs du Gala et il faut RESPECTER leurs décisions malgré nos SENTIMENTS. Car ce que l'on veut n'est pas toujours ce qui est.

Cette année le gala a eu lieu! Les juges ont fait leurs décisions et la reine fut couronnée. Les rumeurs: "Tricher! Tricher! C'est arranger!" se sont faites entendre encore une fois. Nous voilà revenu 8 ANS EN ARRIERE. Malheureusement les sources ne sont jamais ouvertement connues et les personnes responsables chuchottent vivement, et voici pourquoi.

DEMEURER NEUTRE en tout temps. Il faut donner la même chance et la même courtoisie à toutes les duchesses. Il ne faut jamais avoir de PREFERENCE. Et surtout, en tant que membre d'un comité, il ne faut jamais prononcer nos opinions. Et si l'on ne peut faire ainsi alors l'on S'EXCUSE et on reste chez soi.

A celle qui porte la couronne, elle doit savoir gagner et les suivantes doivent savoir accepter leur place et ne JAMAIS OUBLIER qu'une seule personne peut gagner et gagner même par un seul point. Lorsque l'on s'engage dans un concours public il faut prendre la chance de gagner mais aussi de perdre et de SAVOIR L'ACCEPTER.

Afin que le GALA, cet événement spectaculaire, se répète dans les prochaines années avec succès, justice et honnêteté. "Tricher! Tricher! C'est arranger!" ne devront JAMAIS ENCORE se faire entendre.

Si vous avez de la difficulté à accepter la décision des juges, vaut mieux que vous demeuriez une personne de la foule simplement.

Le GALA 1983 ou la vente des billets; les rumeurs décideront!

Les parents ou tuteurs de bénéficiaires âgés de moins de 18 ans peuvent être élus membres du comité de bénéficiaires. Les fonctions du comité de bénéficiaires sont de:

1. défendre les intérêts collectifs des bénéficiaires ou, à la demande d'un bénéficiaire, ses intérêts en tant que bénéficiaire auprès de l'établissement ou de toute autorité compétente;
2. représenter et assister, sur demande, un bénéficiaire qui désire porter une plainte prévue au paragraphe c de l'article 18;
3. participer à l'organisation des loisirs des bénéficiaires et conseiller le conseil d'administration de l'établissement sur toute question relative aux loisirs et aux conditions de séjour des bénéficiaires;
4. renseigner les bénéficiaires sur l'administration générale de l'établissement.

La Loi 27 prévoit une personne élue par le Comité et choisie par les membres de ce comité pour siéger au Conseil d'Administration de l'Hôpital.

Projet légumes chez-nous Pontiac

Maintenant que l'étude d'un marché pour les légumes est accomplie, une réunion aura lieu jeudi, le 25 mars 1982 au C.L.S.C. de Bryson. Le projet Légumes Chez-Nous Pontiac a débuté la deuxième semaine de février. Suite à cette étude, la plupart des magasins du comté sont intéressés à vendre localement. Ils veulent obtenir une certaine assurance d'approvisionnement venant des producteurs de la région. Présentement, ils reçoivent leurs produits des fournisseurs d'Ottawa, Hull ou Pembroke et obtiennent une grande quantité de leurs légumes des Etats-Unis et jusqu'au Mexique.

A la réunion du 25 mars 1982, un de nos invités, un producteur local discutera de son expérience dans la production des serres, comment il a débuté son opération, les problèmes, sa méthode et le chauffage. Monsieur Klaas Bylsma sera présent pour discuter de différentes possibilités pour les producteurs qui désirent vendre leurs produits ou former une association. Les résultats du questionnaire remplis par les magasins du comté seront présentés et nous verrons également la possibilité d'établir un marché ou kiosque pour la période estivale. Un film sera présenté à 19:00 heures et à 20:00 heures, début de la réunion. Rafraîchissements seront servis après la réunion. Pour de plus amples informations contactez: Margaret, Solange ou André au numéro de téléphone: 648-2193.

"Chambre et petit déjeuner" dans l'Outaouais

C'est sous l'appellation "Gite Québec" que la Société d'aménagement de l'Outaouais compte mettre sur pied sous peu un réseau régional de "chambre et petit déjeuner" connu plus généralement sous l'expression "Bed and Breakfast". Ce projet s'inscrit dans le plan d'action du Service du développement touristique (SAO) et vise à améliorer la quantité et la qualité de l'hébergement touristique dans la zone métropolitaine.

Le mode d'hébergement "chambre et petit déjeuner" permet au visiteur de se voir offrir une chambre dans une maison de type unifamiliale. Ce service doit être offert par l'exploitant qui habite la maison. L'exploitant fournit également le petit déjeuner qui est compris dans le prix de location.

Cette forme d'hébergement quoique nouvelle ici est déjà très répandue en Europe. Les visiteurs le choisissent non seulement pour leur prix modique, mais pour avoir la possibilité de demeurer dans une famille et d'échanger avec celle-ci.

Le réseau régional de "chambre et petit déjeuner" devrait s'étendre, dans un premier temps, aux principales villes de la région métropolitaine de l'Outaouais québécois soit Gatineau, Hull et Aylmer. Toutes les chambres devront être acceptées et approuvées d'abord par la ville de résidence, puis par le ministère de l'Industrie, du Commerce et du Tourisme du Québec. Notons que les greniers et sous-sols ne sont pas éligibles selon les normes du ministère.

Selon le Service du développement touristique de la S.A.O. ce mode d'hébergement devrait être en opération pour juin 1982. Le réseau régional sera rattaché au réseau québécois puisque d'autres "chambre et petit déjeuner" feront leur apparition à Montréal, Québec, en Gaspésie et en Abitibi.

Toutes les personnes intéressées à offrir leurs services ou à obtenir plus d'information concernant ce type d'hébergement sont priées de communiquer avec monsieur Jean-Guy Hotte du Service du développement touristique de la Société d'aménagement de l'Outaouais à 770-1500.

Leslie Ranch Inn St. Patrick's jamboree

EQUITY PHOTO

Saturday evening, March 20, the Leslie Ranch Inn's first St Patrick's celebration was a gigantic success. From 9 pm until the wee hours of the next morning a capacity crowd enjoyed the music of the Midnight Ramblers, a versatile group composed of Yvon Ladouceur (lead guitar), Randy Durocher (drum) and John Chassie (bass guitar).

A number of other local performers helped create the Irish mood. In charge of this portion of the program was Ward Schwartz, step-dancer and drummer of Otter Lake. With his brother Wade providing the fiddle music, Ward presented many of his talented step-dancing students including Lori Ann Presley, Brenda Lee Presley, Wendy Courtnay, Lori Ann Beauchamp, Eric Courtnay, Bonnie Lynn Desabrais and Michele Lepack.

In the midst of so much talent it's hard to know where to begin a description. Wade and Ward Schwartz amazed the audience as usual as their feet moved close to the speed of light in stepdances to the fiddle tunes of Ronnie Desabrais. Larry Proulx, still dancing up a storm at the tender age of 75, was accompanied by Wade Schwartz on the fiddle and his wife, Lily, on the spoons! Wade Schwartz, not only an accomplished dancer and fiddle player, also entertained the audience with his guitar strumming and singing.

Transportation for seniors in Campbell's Bay

Last year a group of community minded people in Campbell's Bay got together and decided to find a way of providing transportation to senior citizen's, free of charge, for trips to obtain medical services. In July they were awarded $1000 by the Quebec government to provide this service.

In the six months between July 16 when they began and December 31 of 1981, the four volunteer drivers had driven approximately twenty seniors on a total of 52 trips.

Now, with just one-third of the year left, the group has spent just over half of its budget. This money is used mainly as a mileage allowance for volunteer drivers. This means they have enough funds to increase their service.

Known as the Golden Age Transpo Committee, this group invites all seniors (65 years of age and over) in the Campbell's Bay-Vinton area who lack transportation for medical purposes to contact them at 648-5970 or 648-2474. The Committee stresses that this is not an emergency service. In case of emergency, seniors should phone the ambulance (which is free to senior citizens).

The group has several regularly scheduled trips each week: two trips per week to Shawville on Monday morning and Thursday afternoon (if no trip is scheduled on Monday, it may be possible to schedule a Tuesday or Wednesday trip); other trips to Fort-Coulonge upon request; there is also a possibility of one trip a month to Renfrew or Pembroke.

Seniors are requested to ask for appointments with their doctors at the above times. However, the schedule can be altered from week to week depending on appointments.

Crop insurance

Saskatchewan farmers increased their total crop insurance coverage in 1981-82 to almost $1.2 billion. This was close to half the $2.7 billion record coverage taken out by farmers across Canada. About 47,000 of the province's farmers took out crop insurance last year, compared to 43,000 the year before. The total payout to Saskatchewan farmers is expected to be about $92 million.

The federal government pays 50 per cent of the premiums and farmers pay the other half while the province pays the administrative costs. The 1981-82 federal contribution for crop insurance in Saskatchewan was about $53 million and the province spent $5.6 million.

PERSPECTIVE

REV. ED. McCAIG

Perhaps you would rather not hear my version of what happened on Good Friday. My name is Judas. I know you have heard of me before, and what you heard was not good. Perhaps you even hate me for what I did. If you do, I don't blame you. I hate myself. Good Friday was the blackest day of my life.

So why am I telling you all this? I really don't know. I guess I am hoping you can learn from my mistake. I'm not trying to defend what I did. But I would like you to understand how I got into this mess.

It all started off so well. Three years before this all happened, Jesus called me to be one of his disciples. There were twelve of us, as you know, and for the first little while, we were really excited. We were going out with Jesus to change the world. Everyone would listen to us. There would be an uprising, and the Romans would be driven out. We would become the leaders in the New Israel. The Age of the Messiah would be swept in with glory.

But it didn't work out that way. Jesus just went around teaching people, and doing miracles (and some surprising things did happen!); but many people were against us, especially the Pharisees and the priests. I could see that nothing was going to come of it. And nothing did. That was too bad, I thought, because something could have come of it: if Jesus had done things the right way from the first, he could easily have gathered a following that would have swept him into power. Eventually I began to see that he didn't even want to be in power; he just wanted to be a teacher, and have people live differently. He seemed to be saying that the Kingdom of God was something that came first of all in people's hearts, and I knew that was nonsense. He was so impractical. I really discovered that on the day he let some woman take a bottle of expensive perfume and pour it all over him. I thought she should have sold it and given the money to the poor — and Jesus should have told her that. But he went along with her. His way was just impractical — there is no other way to describe it.

Well, after a couple of years, I could see that his plans were never going to come to anything, and I became rather frustrated with the whole thing. I suppose I should have just left the group and forgotten about him, but I couldn't. Something about him still fascinated me, and I stayed around.

Then came the day the priests offered me money to help them catch him somewhere away from the crowds. I took their money and said I would do it. Why not? I had nothing to lose.

We all had supper together that night. For some reason, he arranged for me to sit beside him. Part way through the meal he told me, in that quiet way of his, that he knew what I was going to do. He knew! And he said I should go and do it quickly. I couldn't stand it any more — I got up and left. But I looked back on my way out the door, and noticed that he was still watching me. What surprised me was that he wasn't angry; he was sad, as if somehow he cared about me.

You know how I got the Temple guards, and brought them to the place where I knew he would be. I pointed him out to them — in fact, I kissed him — and they took him away. All of the other disciples ran away. For the first time in three years, I had nowhere to go.

I wandered the streets until sunset the next day. Finally I asked someone what had happened to him. When they told me he had died about three o'clock that afternoon, I suddenly realized what I had done. His death was all my fault. I could never undo what I had done. All I could do was cry.

I grabbed the bag of money — I still had it with me — and ran back to the Temple with it. I screamed at them that they had to take it back, but they wouldn't speak to me. So I threw it all over the floor, and ran off into the night.

And here I am. I have never been so depressed, and I don't know what to do. I would give anything in this world to have my time back again. But nothing can change what I did. If only I could ask Jesus to forgive me. But he's dead.

Someone just now told me they thought as he was dying, he asked God to forgive the men who put him to death. Do you think that could be true? And if it is — do you think he could possibly have meant to include me?

Brave Canadians decorated

Fourteen Canadians have been awarded Medals of Bravery by His Excellency the Governor General for their involvement in acts of heroism. Five rescued potential drowning victims, five pulled people to safety from vehicles following collision and four rescued people from burning buildings.

The Governor General will present the decorations to these recipients at a Bravery Investiture to be held at Rideau Hall.

There are three Canadian decorations for Bravery: the Cross of Valour, the Star of Courage and the Medal of Bravery. Since the decorations were first created in 1972, five hundred and forty-one have been awarded.

Congratulations to Patricia Foran and Emile Mayhew. Both celebrated birthdays on March 17th. Imagine having two celebrations on the same day! St Paddy's at that!

Happy holidaying to Mr and Mrs Jacques Belanger and family who have gone to St Petersburg in Florida for a couple of weeks. Good luck to them!

This time last year the ice jam and flood were all over by now, and the ferry was crossing by March 17th.

Linda and Tony Lippa and daughter Jennifer are visiting her Mom and Dad for a holiday. (By the way, "Mom and Dad" are Leona and Ernie Muldoon.)

Sympathy is expressed to the family and relatives of Mrs George Greenough of Arnprior. Joan was a sister to Fr Morris. Fifty nurses formed a "Guard of Honour" and twenty priests were present in the Sanctuary. Burial was from St John Chrysostom Church. Fr Morris said the Funeral Mass on February 22nd.

St Paddy's day at Gavan's Shamrock Lounge was celebrated Sunday, March 14th. The lounge was a replicia of its title with green and shamrocks on display, but you know, I'll bet the majority of the crowd didn't notice! Their attention was directed to the Schwartz brothers in their fine talent with their feet, and cute little Edie Shepherd — "she stole the show". The audience also enjoyed the several other great step-dancers. The Jug O'Punch kept the crowd a-clappin'. The Quyon Old Time Fiddlers got everyone in the mood to get up and dance. Maynard Bennett and Andy Lusk sang a couple of Good Old Irish Songs and as the saying goes "A great day was had by all".

Congratulations to Jimmy Curley and Marni Philbrook on their forth-coming marriage. A stag will be held in their honour on April 2nd in Gavan's Lounge.

A bar-shower was held to honour Darlene Gibbons and Mark Kearns whose wedding will be May 1st in St Mary's. Audrey McCann was the hostess. A large crowd attended.

When driving in the rain, choose the driest lane. The right lane gets more traffic than the others and is generally the driest.

Obituary

Donald Louis Bayne

In hospital, at Ottawa on March 18, 1982, Donald Louis Bayne age 64 passed away. He was married to Millie Rogers of Essex. Donald lived the greater part of his life in Waltham where he was born, son of Wm Bayne and Margaret Perry. He served in the Second World War and on returning to Canada, lived for a few years at Medicine Hat. He will long be remembered as a very obliging neighbour, helping out when needed.

The funeral service, conducted at the Chapeau Ringrose Funeral Home was under Pastor Jack Warder of the Waltham Wesleyan Church, followed by a Legion service led by Comrade Richard Bowie of Campbell's Bay. Veterans saluted and placed poppies on the Flag-draped coffin and formed a Guard of Honor when the remains were carried to the hearse for interment at Ivy Hill Cemetery, Waltham. Comrades came from Pembroke, Chapeau, Campbell's Bay, Otter Lake and Waltham.

He leaves to mourn his passing his wife Millie, brothers John (Sandy), Petawawa, Peter and George, Waltham, Rod and Dick, Beaver Creek, Yukon and sisters Mary of Lanark, Hazel, United States, Jean, Ottawa, and Iris of Buckingham.

Luskville . . .

by Shirley Archambault

A lovely surprise party was held in the Luskville Community Centre for Margaret Reside who was 80 on Thursday. She received many cards and gifts including greetings from Tom and Lee Lefebvre and Joe Clark, Leader of the Opposition. Guests came from Ottawa, Aylmer, Ladysmith and Quyon. The biggest surprise of all was the arrival of two of her grandsons, their wives and five of her six great grandchildren. She received phone calls and gifts from Calgary and from her other two grandsons.

Annie Nugent has returned home after spending some time visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Dorothy and Donald Monette of Calgary.

Glad to see Arthur Perrier home again from the hospital. Hope he continues to improve.

Get well wishes to Mariette Lavigne and Theresa Papineau who are both recuperating from surgery.

Les Blés d'Or of Luskville held a supper and card party on Friday night which was a great success. They presented Margaret Reside with a flower aquarium on the occasion of her 80th birthday.

Pontiac Reception Centre auxiliary meets

by Eleanor Hodgins

Another regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary for the Pontiac Reception Home Centre, or more familiarly known as the "Home" in Shawville, was held on the 17th of March (the third Wednesday of the month) at 2:00 p.m.

First Vice-President Rocky Findlay chaired the meeting in the absence of the president, Dora Christie, with twelve members attending. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Pearl Smith, and adopted.

Convenor for the birthday parties, Gwen Hayes, reported that the March party would be held on Thursday afternoon, and that she would require two helpers. Mary Moyle and Sophia McKinley responded to this request.

Rebecca Wilson, convenor for the Bingos, which are held every other Wednesday evening at 6:15 p.m. for an hour, asked for five assistants for the evening of the 17th. She reported that the prizes had been arranged, and were a reminder of the day being St Patrick's Day.

As Kathleen Lamb had asked that she be relieved of her duties as publicity secretary, Eleanor Hodgins agreed to take on reporting to The Equity on a temporary basis.

A report for the supplies cart was given by Rocky Findlay, who asked for any suggestions of additional goodies that might interest the residents.

Collection, which is used to assist in the purchase of Bingo prizes, was taken, and a letter from the Community Friendship Circle of Quyon, enclosing a cheque for $100.00, was read by the secretary. The letter asked that the donation be used for some additional comforts for the residents.

A need for a larger membership was expressed by Mrs Findlay, with the suggestion that each one "bring one". This was followed by a brief poem entitled "Membership--What Kind Are You?"

As many of The Equity readers may recall, there was an excellent write-up published in the March 3rd issue, giving a resumé of the assistance and comforts provided for the residents of the Home by local benefactors and other dedicated contributors. One of these is well-known Dale Thomson, President of the Board of Directors, who attended the meeting at this point, to present a possible building program for a solarium, or sunroom, on the front of the Home, at the south side overlooking the downtown area. This program is still in the planning stages, and would require a great deal of further assistance. Those who have visited the Home will have noted the need for a view to residents who are unable to walk very far, and Dale presented the plans in a most enlightening manner.

Further business was conducted on a motion by Sophia McKinley and Grace Hodgins, and adjournment was moved by Olga Fulford.

The following day, the 18th, was the day of the March birthday party for the residents in the Home, and a delightful one it was! According to Convenor Gwen Hayes, who was assisted by Mary Moyle and Sophia McKinley, the twenty residents who attended had a wonderful time.

Program was provided by Janice Dale, who sang and led in a large number of the "old" hymns, and in which her audience joined enthusiastically. Janice was accompanied by Shirley Caldwell at the piano.

Harvey Smiley, a resident, added to the entertainment by reciting a long poem of the "Shanty Days." Birthday cake and juices were served by the Committee, and brought a very pleasant afternoon to a close.

This is another way in which the Auxiliary tries to make life at the Pontiac Reception Home Centre more enjoyable.
