Three agricultural societies present achievement awards

by Ross Dickson

Despite tropical temperatures, a torrential downpour and a power blackout, about 300 people attended the banquet organized by the three Pontiac agricultural societies in Shawville on Saturday evening, July 9, in honour of Dr Earle Potvin, Dr Grant Rogers and the late David Pilgrim.

The intolerable heat and the electrical problems were soon cleared up with a few words from Dalton Hodgins who was master of ceremonies for the event which was held in the arena.

This banquet was the second put on by the three agricultural societies, based in Chapeau, Shawville and Quyon, to recognize major achievements by men and women from Pontiac. Last year Dr Wilbert Keon and the late Dr Harold Keon received the award.

After a buffet dinner, prepared by Mrs Jacqueline Lepine of Chapeau, the speeches began. Don Dods read a letter from Barry Moore, MP for Pontiac Gatineau Labelle, complimenting the recipients for their contributions to the community.

Bert Collin, mayor of Chapeau, brought greetings from all of the mayors of Pontiac MRC. He noted the importance of recognizing the accomplishments of the County's citizens. He also read a letter from Robert Middlemiss congratulating the agriculture societies and the recipients.

Eason Russell welcomed everyone to Shawville on behalf of the Municipal council. He said that it was an honour that the three recipients of the achievement award had decided to make their home and careers in Pontiac.

The three agriculture boards were introduced by their respective presidents, Pat Tallon of Chapeau, Lucille Hodgins of Shawville and Donald (Duck) Trudeau of Quyon. Lucille Hodgins also spoke about how the idea of the achievement awards originated. The cooperation between the three agricultural societies has resulted in increased attendance at the fairs and numerous joint activities.

Dr Thomas O'Neill introduced Earle Potvin and talked about his medical training, first as an anaesthetist, and then as a surgeon. Since 1975 he has been chief surgeon at the Pontiac Community Hospital.

Dr Potvin has been involved in the administration of the hospital for many years, most recently with the renovations and planning for the new hospital. He has also been very active with the Lions Club of Shawville, particularly in the major improvements of Mill Dam Park.

In accepting the award Earle Potvin remarked,"This has to be the hottest award in the County!" This year, and

Plans for new Hospital unveiled

by Richard Wills

Pontiac County's future hospital building, when complete, will incorporate the existing building into a grand plan that will see the entire facility expanded to three times its present size.

This overall concept was announced on Thursday morning, July 7th, as Gilles Lanteigne, director general of Pontiac Community Hospital (PCH), and four members of the PCH board of directors awaited the arrival of Pontiac MNA Robert Middlemiss and Marion Lebrun, assistant to Quebec Health Minister Thérèse Lavoie-Roux.

Middlemiss and Lebrun arrived late for the morning meeting, having been unavoidably detained. They were then presented with a list of points the Hospital's board would like them to consider.

New Hospital Building

They were shown the preliminary architectural plan for the new Hospital, as drawn up by the Martineau firm of Gatineau. The plan calls for the new building to include the existing structure, expanding in a westward direction to within 500 feet of the Pontiac Reception Centre.

Construction of the new portion is slated to begin in the Fall of 1989. The new section would take approximately 14 months to complete, at which time many facilities would be moved out of the old building into their new homes.

Then restructuring of the old Hospital would begin. This construction would take an estimated 10 months, after which the two sections would be joined in the middle.

The entire complex would be of brick construction, to maintain the integrity with the present structure, but otherwise its appearance would be entirely new.

Estimated cost of the new Hospital would be about $10 million.

The PCH board has already approved this, the second version of the concept. The Quebec government is expected to approve the general concept in August, after which they must approve the budget for the construction, and then the final detailed architectural plans.

After that, all that remains is to tender out the construction contracts, at which time costs will be spelled out exactly.

The PCH board expects that the plans will proceed quickly. "This (new hospital) is one of the top priorities of the Ministry," said Mr Lanteigne.

Surplus

The PCH board is also seeking the Ministry's support for keeping the surplus of $225,000 they have for the 87-88 fiscal year.

The operating surplus is the result of the closing of over half the beds in the Hospital during the recent renovations. Admissions were down 15 to 20 per cent during this period, and the patients' average stay was shorter.

The Hospital would like to use the resulting surplus funds to buy equipment for their Intensive Care unit, and to set up external clinics for specialists.

"This fall we'll be looking for other specialists," says Mr Lanteigne.

PCH would also like to appeal to the Ministry of Health for assistance with its recruiting problems.

Physiotherapist

PCH has recently had problems recruiting a new physiotherapist. Since things didn't work out with their last physiotherapist candidate, the Hospital has been actively recruiting in Montreal.

"We have no hopes of reopening that service before August 1st," says Lanteigne. If the Hospital could acquire someone from Hull or Gatineau on a visiting basis, to give evaluations, then technicians at PCH could apply the recommended programs.

Nurses

The Hospital has also found itself in a crisis situation with respect to acquiring new nurses.

The ones on temporary assignment from Montreal were scheduled to return there in June. Meanwhile, some local girls are leaving to continue their education, which leaves the institution strapped for nurses.

Meanwhile, the Hospital is hoping for "preferred areas" assistance from the Ministry, similar to that available for recruiting doctors.

"We are competing against the big hospitals for Nurses," reminds Lanteigne.

Professional Services

Since the departure of Dr Desaulniers in October 1987, the Hospital has been without a Director of Professional Services. The PCH directors would like to see this position expanded from three days per week to five.

"It's a full-time job," says Mr Lanteigne, but so far the Ministry has only approved an expansion to four days.

Because an applicant would have to establish a private practice to fill his remaining hours, the part-time job is "less attractive."

"After ten months, we'd like to recruit for five days," says Mr Lanteigne.

Clinics Going Well

Mr Lanteigne pointed out that many programs are going quite well at PCH, such as the new Diabetes Clinic.

Dr Maurice Lamarche, director of the Diabetes clinic, says that many

The overall concept for the future Pontiac Community Hospital calls for the present building (right half of picture) to be incorporated into a greater complex extending to the west. Expanded access and landscaping complete the plan.

Producers Board discusses forestry issues with minister

Albert Côté, MNA for Rivière de Loup and the Quebec minister responsible for forestry, accompanied by Robert Middlemiss, MNA for Pontiac, travelled to Pontiac County on Saturday, July 9, visiting Shawville, Bryson and Fort Coulonge.

In Shawville he met with members of the Pontiac Forest Products Producers Board to discuss various issues affecting private woodlot owners in the County.

John Telford, president of the Board and a member of the executive of the Quebec Federation of Wood Producers, introduced Mr Côté, noting that he was the first forestry Minister in the province who was also a forestry engineer.

In his opening remarks Mr Côté referred to the need for improving the management of Quebec's forests. "It's an investment in the future with guaranteed returns."

A pesticide use program is being developed with the Ministry of the Environment. According to Mr Côté, pesticide use is very high in private woodlots, but continued use is required, "to gain some time, 10 to 15 years, to regrow the forests. Already in some areas we have cut beyond the ability of the forests to regenerate."

He also spoke about the logs being floated down the rivers. He has observed that the forestry companies are making efforts to accomodate other users of the waterways, and are keeping their logs under better control.

Bill 150

Board member Denzil Spence raised the issue of the requirement that forestry companies must purchase wood from private woodlots before they will be issued a permit to cut on public lands. Bill 150, which controls the exploitation of the public lands, does not state explicitly the amount or percentage of private wood that must be purchased.

The Minister replied that this amount depended on projections of the amount of wood that could be supplied locally. Temporary cutting permits are first issued based on the amount of wood supplied over the past five years. Then 25 year contracts are issued. These are renewed every five years following an evaluation of the company's performance. Adjustments in the contract are made at this time depending on the supplies of wood available.

The problem of evaluating these supplies in the border areas of Quebec was raised by Board member Doug Gauthier. The forest policy in neighbouring provinces are not the same and wood from the public lands there may be cheaper.

Pine negotiations

Mr Côté indicated that he was familiar with the problem and that discussions with Consolidated Bathurst executives about wood allotments would include this issue. The contract permitting the cutting of white pine in Quebec for sawing into lumber at the CBI mill in Braeside is being renegotiated prior to renewal. One possibility being discussed, said the Minister, is an expansion of the Portage du Fort pulp mill's capacity and an offer to take more hardwood.

John Telford responded that the private producers would prefer that the offer was to take more poplar instead. "We can sell all the hardwood we want." The problem is the poplar which, he claims, CBI will only take if the private producer will also supply pine. He recommended

Fire at J E Boyle

by Denise Belec

Mansfield Volunteer Firefighters were called to extinguish a small fire at the JE Boyle Mill in Davidson on Tuesday, July 5.

The fire started at about 10 pm in the steam plant. It took the firefighters 20 minutes to bring the fire under control. They stayed at the scene for an extra hour and half to make certain the fire was out.

Marcel Bélair, production manager, at the JE Boyle Mill, said the damages are estimated at $500. Three hours of production were also loss in the pine mill because the roof had to be repaired.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation.

Picnics. A big picnic is on the boards for July 23rd at North Onslow. A feature of the event will be a gold watch competition between Mayor P O'Reilly of North Onslow and James McCann, hotelkeeper of Quyon.

Shawville seems to have got over the desire to hold picnics or demonstrations on its own account, and so citizens have the way open to them to visit other localities when anything of that nature is going on. On Dominion Day, just passed, there were picnics at Coulonge, Stark's Corners, Portage du Fort, and Sand Bay, and at those several places Shawvillites were in evidence. The weather, however, was much too hot for an enjoyable outing.

Big Bad Bear Shot. John Ready, of the 11th concession of Onslow, was successful in ridding the district of the largest bear that has been captured there for many years. Mr Bruin, who it seems had a very bad reputation and had been the author of frequent depredations, met with his deserts on Thursday last, when after killing a sheep the night before, and devouring all he could, came back for the remainder when Ready met him with a Snyder, and his career terminated then and there.

While there are many in the locality who were glad to hear that at last Bruin had met with the stern justice he deserved, having suffered from his nightly incursions among their sheep-folds, still there are those who say that with all his bad faults, this bear possessed the one redeeming quality of being able to make some people honest, and on that account it is perhaps a pity that his carreer has ended.

Autocars. Several of our citizens attended the demonstration at Beachburg on the 4th, going by autocar.

Mr C Caldwell of the Pontiac House, caught the car fever last week, and is now in possession of a "Ford".

Born. At Bristol on June 29, to Mr and Mrs H A Carlson, a son.

Married. The home of Mrs Wm McJanet, Bristol, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on June 25, when her daughter, Annie Park, was united in marriage tc Robert Levi Young of Smith's Falls.

Alice Marion, daughter of Mr Thomas Elliott, to Thomas Rae Wilson, at the bride's home on June 25th. The ceremony was performed on the lawn in front of the house. The couple will reside on Mr Wilson's farm at Green Lake.

Local News. The drought has very much retarded the growth of spring crops. It is now certain that hay in this county will be very light and in most places not more than half of what it was last year. Even on low lands, growth has been been almost entirely suspended.

The berry crop this year will be very slim, the drought having played havoc with it.

The drought has been so intense and protracted that there seems little hope of recuperating crops now, even should a season of wet weather set in. Farmers are talking of attaching bags to their reaping machines in which to catch the products of their fields, as binding will be out of the question.

Mr P McCabe, well-known miller, has leased the Grand Marais mill from Dr Purvis.

A large cow moose with calf following was seen on the bank of the river a few miles above here (Bryson) last week. She took the water on the opposite side some distance above and swam down to Grand Rocher.

The P D Fort people believe firmly that they will get their projected branch railway. In the list of the subsidies granted by the Quebec Government, the P D Fort and Bristol line does not appear.

A Fine Raft. Messrs. Hale and Booth's raft, manufactured on the Amable du Fond, arrived here (Bryson) early on Friday morning, and was safely over the slides by noon the following day. The raft contains 99 cribs of white pine, of exceptionally good quality, being large and well-made. Forty per cent of the raft is board timber, of 81 feet average; the remainder – 60 per cent – gives and average of 66.09 feet, or an average all round of 72 feet. Competent judges say this raft is the finest that has gone down the Ottawa for twenty years past. Mr Thomas Hale has charge.

Bryson Boy's Success. We observe with much pleasure that at the recent closing exercises of the Detroit College, Mr Thomas McVeigh – whose educational advancement we have noted from time to time – has graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Mr McVeigh delivered a brilliant oration on the subject of "True Greatness". Among other marks of distinction he merited the gold medal for the best historical essay.

Married. In Bryson on the 10th inst., James Anderson, to Mary Lalonde, both of Leslie.

At St Stephen's Church, Thorne West, Sylvester Richards of Bristol, to Margaret Jane, third daughter of John Hodgins of Thorne.

Producers Board meets with minister that the poplar quota should be raised by 15%.

Mr Telford pointed out the value of CBI's two mills to the Pontiac economy. About 60 Pontiac residents are employed at the Braeside lumber mill and 370 at the Portage pulp mill.

Red pine market

Board member Ernest Schrankler spoke about the absence of a market for the red pine being thinned out of plantations. Even trees with 14" butt diameters were of no interest, even as chips to CBI, or to CIP in Gatineau. It was noted that both Tembec in Temiscamingue and CBI get sufficient chips from Ontario.

Taking note of the red pine problem, the Minister said, "I don't want to start a fight with Ontario. Instead I want to get the mills more aware of the supplies of wood available in Quebec."

Planing mill

Pat Hynes, a past member of the Board, brought up the issue of the sawmill being operated by Commonwealth Plywood in Rapides des Joachims. He claimed that about 75% of the 16 jobs at the mill were held by Ontario residents. He said that an expansion of the mill is being considered, with the possible help of grants from Quebec, to include a kiln and planing mill. This finishing is now being done in Pembroke, he pointed out.

His suggestion to the Minister was that serious consideration be given to constructing the new facilities on Allumette Island in order to provide the additional jobs in an area where there is high unemployement in the County. According to Mr Hynes this would add very little to the costs of the lumber since it is already being shipped to Pembroke and then on to markets to the south.

Mr Côté thanked him for the information, saying, "When we give out grants we should include conditions such as this as well."

Mr Telford brought the Minister up to date on the efforts by Pyrok North America to establish a concrete-bonded particle board factory at Bristol Mines. He said research by MacMillan Bloedel indicates a large market for this board.

Individual Aid

Luc Desrosiers, a forestry engineer working with the Board, discussed a problem with the Individual Aid program of the Ministry of Energy and Resources for helping private woodlot owners improve the management of their forests. Apparently, if a particular management project is not done properly according to MER guidelines, the funds for that project are cut back. In many cases this penalizes the Forest Products Producers Board which may have contributed a lot of expensive professional time to the project, but which has not been responsible for its completion.

Following the discussion of these problems, Mr Côté left for a lunch at the Voyageur Motel in Bryson with delegates from the Pontiac MRC, and later travelled to Fort-Coulonge to participate in the celebration of the town's centennial.

last, when it was awarded to the Drs Keon the temperature was close to 100°F.

Having spent 25 years here he said, "I can't think of a better place to live and raise kids." He looked forward to practicing in the new hospital which should be completed in 1991.

Bob Younge introduced Grant Rogers and described his training as a veterinarian, and his excellence in treating large and small animals. He noted Dr Rogers' help at fairs in the past, keeping the animals in top condition.

Dr Rogers has also been very active with the Lions Club, especially as a chef at the club's various ventures into food preparation. For many years he has voluntarily kept the Shawville Fair Grounds clean and mowed.

Grant Rogers spoke about the dedication of the three fair boards in the County, all contributing to the quality of life here. "It was a lucky day for us when we decided to come to Shawville to live," he commented.

Lucille Hodgins spoke about the third recipient of the achievement award, the late David Pilgrim. Mr Pilgrim was a very active farmer, the vice president of the District Board of the Agricultural Society, and involved with the bull testing station in the Gatineau Valley.

Lucille noted his willingness to take a chance on new ideas for a good cause, and his constant push to look at the effects of today's actions well into the future.

Gloria Pilgrim accepted the award on David's behalf.

A large number of Potvins, Rogers and Pilgrims were on hand to participate in the recognition for the three men.

After the awards presentation ceremonies, Chris Judd presented Grant Rogers with a brand new mower. A dance followed to the music of the Racoons on Ice band.

Still looking for Hearts of Gold

Editorial

Probably everybody in the County knows someone who has made selfless contributions to the community. This weekend three such men were honoured by the agricultural societies of Pontiac. Yet for every person honoured there are hundreds who have never been recognized.

There is a way, though, that our readers can improve that situation. In March, Air Canada and the community newspapers of Canada organized the Heart of Gold campaign to acknowledge the contributions of these people. Volunteers from all over Canada, in all walks of life, are being nominated for the award which includes a certificate and a Heart of Gold Award pin.

All it takes is for some individual or organization to write a brief letter, outlining in a few words the reason for nominating a certain person, and to send it to THE EQUITY in Shawville. We will do the rest. Already we have had nominations, but there are many more people in the County who deserve the recognition.

There are people who volunteer their time and work tirelessly for the school, agricultural society, recreation, hospital, old age home and senior citizen's apartment boards; who drive the elderly and infirm to appointments; who get up in the middle of the night to help fight a fire; who take the time to coach our children in organized sports; who work tirelessly with the service and fraternal clubs; or who spend countless hours teaching the illiterate to read.

From the terrifying to the tedious, it all has to be done, and it is done by volunteers. Tell us who they are and why you recommend them, the sooner the better, because the Heart of Gold award program ends at the end of July.

Outaouais residents less healthy than the average Quebecer

by Bill Brown
for Mainland Press

Most Quebecers lead healthier lives today than was the case 10 years ago, according to a study released in early July by Health and Social Services Minister Thérèse Lavoie-Roux.

Residents of the Quebec City region, the Abitibi, and the Eastern Townships have shown the greatest improvement in health habits, while Outaouais residents (in the West Quebec region) have shown the least improvement.

The study was commissioned by Lavoie-Roux, and was conducted by Santé-Québec, an organization created specifically for this survey of over 13,000 Quebec households.

Largest Quebec study ever

It's the first such study since a national health survey was done in 1978, Santé-Québec claims it's the largest health survey ever carried out in the province.

One of the study's authors, Aline Emond, says most Quebecers have healthier lifestyles now than they did a decade ago.

"Better with regard to smoking, alcohol consumption, and wearing seat belts," she says.

Smoking, drinking drop

In the last 10 years, the number of regular drinkers in the province has fallen by six per cent. The percentage of heavy drinkers (at least 14 drinks per week) has dropped from 17.4 per cent to 12.4 per cent. The highest proportion of heavy drinkers, according to the survey, is in the Outaouais region.

In addition, most Quebecers are smoking less. The number of regular smokers is down by 10 per cent since 1978. Now, only one third of Quebecers consider themselves regular smokers. But this trend doesn't hold in the Outaouais, where almost four of every 10 people are regular smokers.

The Santé-Québec survey also reports that 91 per cent of Quebecers now use car seat belts.

Life expectancy up

As a result of these factors, the life expectancy for a Quebec man is now around 72 years: that's up 2.4 years since 1978. Life expectancy for women is up 1.9 per cent over the same period, and is now approximately 80 years.

Emond credits this increase in healthy living to public education.

"I think the work done in health promotion over the past 20 years is showing some results," she says. "Quebecers are taking better care of themselves.

But the study isn't all good news. Health minister Lavoie-Roux says the actual number of reported illnesses has increased by approximately four per cent. She believes this is mostly because the population of the province is aging rapidly. She says the government will be spending more on care for the elderly in the next several years.

Lavoie-Roux also points to a four per cent increase in mental health problems in the last decade as an issue that the government will have to deal with in the near future.

System favors rich

The minister is also concerned with the disparities in health care between the rich and poor, as revealed by Santé-Québec.

"It's essential to aim for fairness," she says. "This must be the cornerstone of Quebec's health and social service system."

For Emond, the survey's most alarming finding is the increase in the number of skin and respiratory diseases among young Quebecers. She feels this could be due to environmental conditions like pollution and the use of herbicides.

But neither Emond nor Lavoie-Roux can explain the relatively poor health of Outaouais residents, as compared to the rest of the province. In addition to having the highest percentages of smokers and heavy drinkers, the region leads the province in obesity, psychological distress, and overall physical illness. Last year, close to 60 per cent of the population of the region reported at least one health problem.

Regional disparities

Paul Leguerrier is the Director-general of the CLSC (Local Community Service Centre) in Hull. She says he's aware of the area's health problems, but he doesn't know if they are as serious as the Santé-Québec survey indicates. He does, however, cite another study which suggests Outaouais residents are more prone to cardio-vascular problems than are other Quebecers.

Leguerrier says there is a significant number of low-income people in the region, "And we have repeatedly asked the government to increase health and social services in these areas," he adds.

Lavoie-Roux admits that poverty and "a lack of medical and social welfare facilities" could be at the heart of the health problems in the Outaouais, but she says she'll study the Santé-Québec survey further before taking any action.

Priorities still not set

The minister is planning to present new health and social service priorities to the cabinet in the fall. She says this health study along with the Rochon Report, will help her "in the establishment of the priorities with the view of having a global policy on health and social services."

With somewhat less recourse to well-worn jargon, Aline Emond says she hopes the data from the study will be used by researchers and policy planners to bring the necessary improvements to Quebec's health and social service network.

Our Town

Written for the 125th Celebration
by Janis Thompson
Music by Lise Essiambre

Along the Ottawa River there's a place to see
A place that will always be home to me.

From the railway station to the dam at Chenaux
The place I'm speaking of I'm sure you know.
Chorus: It's Portage du Fort. Yes you were right
And if you come it's quite a sight.

To shop they would come from all around
And Christmas time Portage they were bound.

For many years our town had thrived
Until a dreadful fire it had survived. Chorus

With buildings new and buildings old
The history is plenty though it's seldom told.

It once was big it now is small
But home it is to me and to all. Chorus

The folks are really great though they are few
They come and they go but their hearts are true.

It is for this that we relate
To our 125th we now celebrate. Chorus.

95th birthday

Mrs Violet Lepine celebrated her 95th birthday on Thursday, July 7th at the Ade Pavillion in Shawville. She was born Violet Godin on Calumet Island, one of four children of Pauline and Manwell Godin.

To celebrate the day, she was joined by her husband Cyril (right), a Canadian veteran of two world wars, who now resides in Campbell's Bay; her grandson Claude, and daughter Aline Wall, who journeyed from Toronto with her husband Clem for the occasion.

She loves music, and sings many tunes for her own amusement. Joking around with relatives and Pavillion staff, she say with a smile, "I'm too old to cut the mustard." The twinkle in her eye, however, tells a different story.

Government announces changes in Canada Savings Bond sales period

The Honourable Michael Wilson, Minister of Finance, announced plans for a change in the annual Canada Savings Bond campaign timetable. With this change, cash sales for the 1988/89 issue will begin on Thursday, October 20, 1988, and Tuesday, November 1 will be the last day on which the bonds can be bought for cash without having to pay accrued interest. Investors purchasing the new bonds on or after October 20 will be able to date their payments November 1, the day the new bonds start earning interest.

As with past CSB issues, the Minister reserves the right to terminate sales at any time at his discretion, but applications already arranged with payment dated November 1 will be valid even if the bonds are withdrawn from sale before November 1.

Mr Wilson said the new timetable, in effect, moves forward the cash sales period from the traditional first week in November to the latter part of October.

In this period, investors submitting cash applications for the new bonds can complete payment arrangements post-dated to November 1.

Special arrangements are being made with the financial institutions to allow holders of maturing Canada Savings Bonds to reinvest the redemption proceeds of their bonds in the new series starting the first day of the new bonds go on sale. This means that starting October 20, 1988, holders of maturing 1981-82 series of Canada Savings Bonds (Series 36) will be able to go to their bank or other CSB redemption agent and complete all the paperwork required to reinvest proceeds from their maturing bonds, with settlement date November 1.

Similar arrangements will also apply where investors wish to reinvest the proceeds from interest payments due November 1 on outstanding CSB issues.

"Under the proposed timetable for this year's Canada Savings Bond Campaign, investors will have ample opportunity to buy the new bonds," the minister said. "At the same time, the government will benefit from substantial savings due to a better matching of receipts from CSB sales with payments for interest and redemptions."

The Minister said he is announcing the new timetable at this early date in order to give CSB sales agents sufficient time to prepare for the fall campaign, and also to notify investors so that they can properly schedule the maturity dates of other investments if they wish to reinyest the funds in CSB's.

Letters to the Editor

Canada's nuclear subs

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment upon the letter to THE EQUITY of June 15, concerning the Government's intention to acquire a fleet of nuclear-propelled submarines.

I am compelled to accuse the writer of displaying a lack of originality, as the text of the letter has appeared in almost identical form elsewhere.

Canada requires these vessels in order that we have an appropriate mix of forces for the surveillance and control of activities in the maritime approaches to the nation. By agreement with our allies, we are responsible for caretaking duties over more than ten million square miles of oceanic real estate, much of which is ice-covered. We need a team comprising aircraft, ships, submarines and supporting sensory and communications systems in order to do the job. Only nuclear-propelled submarines can be truly cost effective as the sub-surface component.

If we don't do the job, someone else will. For Canada, it's a matter of contributing to our own defence and to our sovereignty. Our track record hasn't been good enough.

Eight billion (86/87 dollars) is our estimate of acquisition costs. We are confident in that figure. At least 65 per cent of that will be spent in Canada.

Spending priorities are a matter of balance. We simply must apportion some part of our national wealth to provide for our security. That $8 billion will be spent over 27 years; during the same period of time, Canadians can expect to pay more than $1,600 billion on social programs. Unemployment insurance benefits alone are costing us $10 billion every year. And, sadly, Canadians are spending $11 billion a year on illegal drugs. The submarine "insurance premium" seems most reasonable by comparison.

Yours truly
Dr Robert Horner, M.P.

McGuinty's wake

The night Danny McGuinty died and the days he was waked. (All names included suppositious.) It was February 7, 1924, when he died and he was buried on February 11. Danny wasn't embalmed but he had a nice casket. He was laid out after a lot of trouble around noon on February 8.

The undertaker had a problem because Danny had been bed-ridden for fourteen years and by the time the undertaker arrived, rigor-mortus had set in and the body had to be tied to the bottom of the casket at the chest and just above the knees.

My father decided to go to the wake, stay overnight and go to the funeral in North Onslow the next day. It was 30 degrees F below zero at three o'clock in the afternoon and he decided to take the team and the flat sleigh instead of the light sloops, extra hay and a couple feeds of oats and extra horse blankets in case the stable wasn't warm enough. We took off near 4 pm and had about eight miles to go on snow that was as grindy under the sleigh runners as fine gravel. We arrived there and were welcomed by Willie Nolan, a neighbour. We got a place for the horses, blanketed them, watered and fed them and put the next day's hay and oats into four bran sacks and put it behind the team in the stable.

We had brought along a roast of pork, several loaves of bread and two half-gallon crocks of crab apple preserves. In those days, some wakes went on continuously day and night until the funeral, and funerals were rare on Sunday.

Well, Eilleen, that's Danny's wife's sister, she came up from Ottawa. Danny's wife's name was Norma and they had four girls, two were married, one was courting a farmer from Bristol and Maggie, the youngest, was still staying at home dedicated to her parents and hoping that some day she could go and work in Ottawa.

The house was crowded and everyone was asked to say prayers for poor Danny before supper. Then there was about three settings to the big harvest table side lined by two 10 foot benches, a captain's chair at one end and two hoop Windsor chairs at the other end. There was no shortage of food and after supper, I sneaked out to the cow barn with Barney Hogan and we were wondering how the path was so packed on a cold stormy night like that. We soon discovered that they were having a drink. We later determined it was poteen.

At 10:00 pm, there was again long prayers said for poor Danny and nearly all the close relatives and young women were crying out loud.

Again at midnight, it was announced that further prayers would be said for poor Danny to make sure he wouldn't be turned down at the Pearly Gates.

Some people had already gone home but there was at least 50 people still there praying and a few non-prayers out in the kitchen telling ghost stories. The prayers had no sooner started under the low lights of two coal oil lamps, one on the table and the other at the foot of the coffin, when all of a sudden poor Danny sat straight up then canted towards all the prayers. The lamp on the foot of the coffin fell over and went out after smashing the globe and two young lads scampered out from under the drapes around the coffin.

Myles Cuggan and Lanty Corrigan had cut the rope that was holding poor Danny's chest straight in the coffin. After all the confusion, prayers were continued and a big meal was mostly left on the table.

The young lads took off to their homes I expect and there were only four sleighs that made the trek to the church the next morning when it was 40 degrees F below zero.

As I was young at the time, I remember in church expecting Danny to sit up in his coffin, but as I saw him being buried in the cold frozen ground with snow and chunks of frozen earth on top of the coffin, I had a feeling that he was watching from above and was asking God to keep a place for all those who weathered the storm that day.

Comings and goings at QPF Police Department

by Denise Belec

In the past year, eight new officers have joined the Campbell's Bay detachment of the Quebec Police Force (QPF), and before the year is through, a few more will have joined the Campbell's Bay office.

These newcomers have come to fill the vacancies created at the police station in the past months. But during the next few months, nine more members of the Campbell's Bay office will be leaving for other QPF stations, opening positions here for rookies who will be graduating from the Quebec Police Academy in December.

Of the eight officers who have recently joined the force, only one can be called a true rookie. Twenty three year old David Gauthier from Montreal graduated from the Police Academy last December. He arrived at the Campbell's Bay office on June 21st along with Josée Leblanc, Bernard Guénette and Sylvain Dufour.

Although he is also at his first job with the police, Dufour, 25, served with the Canadian Armed Forces for three years. The Lac-St-Jean native graduated from the Police Academy in 1983. Finding no jobs with the police, Dufour joined the Air Force.

Josée Leblanc, 24, from St-Hyacinthe, and 23-year-old Bernard Guénette from Mont Laurier, both have previous experience with Municipal Police Forces.

Officer Leblanc worked a year with the Blainville Municipal Police before joining the Campbell's Bay office of the QPF. Officer Guénette worked a year with the Mont Laurier Municipal Police before being recruited by the QPF.

The other officers who have joined the Campbell's Bay office during the past year are: 23-year-old Daniel Potvin of Rouyn Noranda, 25-year-old Sylvain Giroux of Quebec City, 23-year-old Donald Doré of Lac-St-Jean and 23-year-old Jean-François Cloutier of Montreal.

Officer Potvin joined the QPF on March 28,1988. After a few months in the County, Daniel says he loves it here, with the proximity to his favorite sports, hunting and fishing.

Officers Cloutier, Doré and Giroux joined the Campbell's Bay office on June 27, 1987.

After a year in the County the three men have finally settled down and have begun enjoying the beauty of the County.

Officer Cloutier has already made a name for himself as great organist. He plays in church about once a month and his services have been requested at a few weddings.

Jean-François loves the County, finding it the perfect place to practice his favourite sports, cross coutry skiing and wind surfing. Jean-François who worked for the Montreal Urban Community Police Department said he prefered working here. "I like the country and the people here. The police are much more appreciated here than in Montreal," he said.

On August 1st, two Corporals will be arriving in Campbell's Bay. Jean-Pierre April, monitor at the Quebec Police Academy in Nicolet, and Rhéal Lagacée, detective with the QPF criminal investigation bureau in Hull have both been recently promoted to the rank of corporal.

They will be replacing Corporal Marc Saumure who has been transfered to the QPF General Headquarters in Hull, and Officer Sylvain Beaulne who for the past few months had filled a vacant corporal seat at the Campbell's Bay office. Officer Beaulne is also being transfered. He will be leaving the Campbell's Bay office in September.

The station will be getting a new sergeant in October. Sergeant Luc Bergeron who has been in charge of the Campbell's Bay office for the past two years, recently received news that his demand for a transfer had been accepted. Sgt Bergeron, who said he loves Pontiac County and he hopes to eventually come back, asked for a transfer to be closer to his two daughters. Bergeron will be in charged of the QPF station in La Sarre, Abitibi.

The following officers are also leaving: Marcel Gagnon is being transfered to Cowansville in September after being in Campbell's Bay for seven years.

After 10 years of service to Pontiac County, Jacques St-Ours will be leaving September 1st for the Hull Metro office. Also leaving on September 1st for Hull Metro is Daniel Joanisse. Daniel worked in Campbell's Bay for 6 years.

Daniel Savage and Daniel Ferron will both be leaving in January. Officer Savage has been here for two years and officer Ferron worked in the County for seven years.

André Roy has already left for the Quebec Police Academy where he is following an instructor's course.

Telebec opens distribution centre

by Denise Belec

Telebec Subscribers can now save $17.25 when they order a new phone, by picking it up at a distribution centre instead of having it delivered to their home.

The distribution centre is located in J&J grocery store on Hwy 148 in Shawville.

Clients must still call the Telebec office in Trois-Rivières to order their telephone. The order is then passed to the Shawville Telebec office who brings the ordered phone to J&J. The client can then pick it up at his convenience.

Mr Robert Séguin, director of repairs and installations at the Shawville office, said the distribution centre is not located in their office because of their short office hours. "This will be more convenient for the clients," said Mr Séguin.

Doe-hunting licence forms still available

Francine Tremblay of the Game Warden's office in Campbell's Bay, has informed THE EQUITY that application forms are still available for the draw for licences to hunt does during the 1988 deer hunting season.

The Campbell's Bay office received 150 blank application forms on Monday, July 4th, and by Tuesday afternoon they had all been picked up by interested hunters. Four hundred more forms have now arrived at the office, but they will obviously not last long.

"I don't imagine there will be a limit on the number of ballots the government will give us," says Ms Tremblay.

Still, any hunters should send in a form immediately if they wish to be in the lottery for the limited number of doe-hunting permits.

The deadline for the forms to be sent in is July 29th. At that time, a fixed number of permits will be issued, selected by a random draw.

Ralph Carlson was one of the entertainers at the Riverview North Country Jamboree last weekend.

by Denise Belec

Attendance was down this year at the annual Riverview North Country Jamboree in Bristol last weekend.

Don McCredie owner of the farm on which the Jamboree is held said that two things contributed to the lower than usual attendance. The weather was too hot and then there was the thunderstorm that started at just about the time people might have been preparing to leave home.

"A lot more came out on Sunday this year, rather than Saturday," said Mr McCredie.

Despite the weather, McCredie said there was a fair turnout.

McCredie thinks that another thing that might have affected attendance was the controversy surrounding using farm land for anything else. But McCredie received a letter from the Ministry of Agriculture giving him the go ahead for the event.

The Jamboree started Friday night featuring Red Bennett and Pontiac Night. Entertainers well-known in Pontiac who were in the Friday night line-up also included: Donna Moon and Garry Fairburn, Ron McMunn and Howard Hayes and the Country Drifters.

Other entertainers participating in the Jamboree throughout the weekend included Mac Wiseman, Bruce Golden & Country Gold, Ralph Carlson, Dan Rogers & Maple Ridge, Hank Rivers, Dominic D'Arcy, Marie Bottrell, Davey Drummond & Headline, Delmer and Cecil, Anita Perras & Tim Taylor and Graham & Eleanor Townsend.

Mr McCredie said that he should have another Jamboree next year, although no definite date has been set.

Anne Andrews and Don Latky of Ottawa danced to Anita Perras & Tim Taylor's music last Sunday, July 10. Anne said they come to the Riverview North Jamboree in Bristol every year.

Fort Coulonge Centennial

Inauguration of municipal park

by Denise Belec

Fort Coulonge inaugurated its municipal park and unveiled the centennial plaque last Saturday, July 9.

The Minister delegated to Forestry, Mr Albert Côté, and Mr Don Proudfoot helped Fort Coulonge Mayor Hector Soucie Jr unveil the centennial plaque.

Considering that the forest industry is one of the biggest employers in the region, and is at the root of Fort Coulonge's development, it was fitting for the Minister delegated to forestry to be present at the Centennial Celebration.

In a gesture of thanks, Mayor Soucie presented a Centennial certificate to Mr Côté. The certificate is given to those who participated in the homecoming week.

Other distinguished guests at Saturday's event included: MP Barry Moore; MNA Robert Middlemiss; Pierre Ricard, regional delegate of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs; Msgr Douglas Bridge; Rev Allan MacKenzie; representing Senator Thomas Lefebvre, Mrs Léa Lefebvre; MRC Pontiac Warden Denis Larivière; Mr Donald Proudfoot; Mrs Délia Cavanagh; the two grade four pupils from the Poupore Elementary school in Fort Coulonge who won the Coulonge Centennial contest, Kevin Laporte and Michelle Bertrand; Fort Coulonge councillors and members from other Municipal councils from Pontiac County.

The land where the park is located was donated to the Municipality of Fort Coulonge by Mr John Hugh Proudfoot in 1972. Mr Proudfoot was mayor of Fort Coulonge from 1945 to 1949.

After the inauguration of the park, officials were asked to plant trees as a testament to the future of the park and the community.

As a symbol of the past and the future, by planting the trees, the municipality wishes to give back to the earth what the founders had taken for their own personal use.

A dinner followed the inauguration ceremony at the Golden Age club.

Ten-year-old Michelle Bertrand of Fort Coulonge was chosen to plant a tree in the municipal park last Saturday, July 9. With Michelle are Mayor Hector Soucie, her mother Carole Ménard Bertrand, and Councillor Gilles Beaulieu.

Mr Robert Middlemiss, MNA for Pontiac, helped by Fort-Coulonge Councillor Claire Benoît, planted a red pine at the inauguration of the municipal park last Saturday July 9 in Fort Coulonge.

Hospital plans

Contrary to popular belief, some sugar is included in the diabetic's diet, but the patient's condition is not being treated by a high-sugar diet, as some might be led to believe.

Mr Lanteigne feels that, as Pontiac residents become accustomed to the new programs offered at PCH, they will feel more at home there.

"People are starting to change their habits," he says, "They are happy to get service here."

misconceptions still remain about how the clinic is conducted.

Patients are not required to visit the clinic monthly, and any monthly review is for the purpose of evaluating the program, not to review a patient's condition. Return visits may be recommended by one's family doctor, however,

Any pairing-up of diabetics is voluntary only, for ease of integration into the program.

Fort Coulonge Mansfield s'illustre aux Jeux du Québec

Trois des quatres équipes de soccer du PATRO de Fort-Coulonge Mansfield qui ont participé aux Jeux du Québec de l'Outaouais ont remportés des médailles. Les équipes des Pee Wees et Atomes ont chacune remporté une médaille d'or, et l'équipe Bouts de Chou a remporté une médaille d'argent.

Un bon nombre de parents ont supporté les jeunes pendant les compétitions de soccer qui ont eu lieu samedi, le 9 juillet dernier, dans le cadre des Jeux du Québec qui se déroulent dans la Petite Nation jusqu'au 17 juillet. Les matches se sont déroulés simultanément à Montébello et à St-André Avellin.

Fort-Coulonge était seul a avoir inscrit quatre équipes: les 5-6 ans pour les Bouts de Chou, les 7-8 ans pour les Atomes, les 9-10 ans pour les Moustiques et les 11-12 ans pour les Pee-Wees.

Malgré un thermomètre qui frisait les 35° C, les joueurs ont fait preuve d'un courage indomptable. Deux équipes ont joué quatre parties sous une chaleur torride.

Avec deux médailles d'or et une d'argent, les joueurs ont merveilleusement représenté la région. Ils méritent toutes nos félicitations de même que les entraîneurs qui y ont mis le paquet depuis le mois d'octobre dernier pour préparer cet affrontement. Il faut dire que les gardiens des deux équipes qui ont décroché l'or, Jean Amyotte pour les Atomes et Scott Jolin pour les Pee Wees, ont été superbe.

Selon Gilles Ouimet, secrétaire du PATRO de Fort-Coulonge Mansfield, "les organisateurs ont été étonnés de la performance de nos représentants, avec ça on peut espérer aller aux Jeux provinciaux du Québec l'an prochain."

L'équipe des Pee Wees: première rangée, Daniel Perreault, Pascal Bélair, Sylvain Danis, Daniel Béchamp, Sébastien Bisson et Jean-Claude Bélair. Deuxième rangée, Patrick Newberry, Philippe Béchamp, Martin Bertrand et John Armour. Troisième rangée, Pascal Graveline, Julien Béland, Guy Ladouceur, Benoit Dubé, François Paquin, Scott Jolin, Jean-Marc Viau et Marc Bourque.

L'équipe Atomes a remporté une médaille d'or aux jeux du Québec de l'Outaouais. Première rangée, Jean-René Marion, Dominique Viau, Marc Patry, Keith Morissette, Robert Armour et Gaston Allard. Session spéciale de la Commission scolaire de Pontiac, du 25 mai 1988

Session spéciale du Conseil des commissaires de la Commission scolaire de Pontiac, tenue le mercredi, 25 mai 1988, au siège sociale de la susdite commission scolaire.

Mot de la présidente. La présidente rapelle aux membres les conséquences possibles de ne pas prendre position face au plan de redressement de la commission.

Rapport du directeur général. Le directeur général fait état des dossiers suivants: Cours de sécurité (document déposé); Politique d'évaluation du personnel: Un projet sera présenté à l'assemblée du 8 juin; qualité d'éducation; école St-Pierre (moustiques); transport d'écoliers (Rapides des Joachims); assurances; réception des ex-commissaires; frais de déplacements des commissaires; immersion–Chapeau (document déposé); école secondaire St-Alphonsus.

Parole au public. Les enseignants de l'école secondaire Sieur de Coulonge déposent un document afin d'informer les membres du Conseil de leurs attentes, de leurs recommandations, face aux coupures budgétaires et au regroupement potentiel de la clientèle.

Qualité d'éducation. Mme Mary Anne Thompson propose que le comité aviseur permanent des ressources éducatives, soit mandaté pour étudier les orientations et les objectifs de la commission scolaire et faire rapport au Conseil des commissaires.

Mouvements de personnel enseignant 1988-1989. Considérant la diminution de la clientèle scolaire et le surplus d'effectif, les personnes suivantes seront non-rengagées pour l'année scolaire 1988-1989: Lucille Bertrand, Andrée Beaumier et Hélène Bourdon.

Les personnes suivantes seront mises en disponibilité; affiliation syndicale CEQ, Sylvio Masseau, Louise Longchamps, Carmen Séguin et Claire Carle; affiliation syndicale PACT, Samuel McGuire et Modesta Desouza.

Démission. La Commission scolaire a accepté la démission de Berthe Migneault, professeur à l'école secondaire Sieur de Coulonge, effective le 1er juillet, 1988.

Des congés sabbatiques à traitements différés ont été accordés aux personnes suivantes: Contrat de trois ans, Eva L'Ecuyer, professeur (1990 1991).

Contrat de quatre ans Suzanne Girard, professeur (1991-92).

Le plan d'effectifs des directions d'écoles 1988-89 a été accepté tel que présenté.

La politique de fonctionnement (311-00) a été accepté tel que présenté.

Le calendrier de travail du personnel 1988-1989 fut accepté tel que présenté.

Plan de redressement de la situation financière–orientations de la commission scolaire. Attendu que: La commission scolaire fait face à une situation financière déficitaire récurrente importante (ENAP rapport 2); les tentatives de redressement (compressions des dépenses) effectuées depuis quelque deux ans se sont avérées insuffisantes; le modèle actuel de financement des commissions est basé sur la clientèle et le taux d'occupation des écoloes. Notre clientèle est démographiquement et géoraphiquement dispersée; la commission scolaire se doit de répondre aux spécificités de son territoire (langues secondes, EDDA, immersion, Rapides des Joachims, conseiller pédagogiques, accessibilité aux ateliers de l'école secondaire Sieur de Coulonge; la commission se doit d'améliorer la qualité des services offerts à la clientèle; le MEQ (DRO), exige que la commission lui présente un plan global de redressement avant de faire connaître, s'il y a lieu, son implication; et que le MEQ a autorisé une étude de la situation par l'Ecole nationale d'administration publique et que les recommandations faites par cette firme (troisième et quatrième rapports) relatives aux niveaux politique, administratif et pédagogique, ont été acceptées le 6 avril 1988, M. Joseph Ranger propose que le statu quo soit retenu pour l'année 1988-1989 et qu'une étude soit faite concernant d'autres possibilités pour les années subséquentes. Six sont pour la résolution et quatre contre dont, Alice Roy, Roland Vallières, Annette Dumouchel, Mary Anne Thompson.

Budget 1988-1989. Attendu que le Ministre peut, aux conditions et selon les modalités qu'il détermine, autoriser une commission à adopter un budget qui ne maintient pas l'équilibre et que la commission scolaire ne prévoit pas équilibrer son budget de fonctionnement 1988-1989 pour les raisons citées en annexe, l'écart entre les revenus et les dépenses projetés étant de $183,996, M. Raymond Hynes propose qu'une demande soit faite au Ministre de l'Education d'autoriser la Commission scolaire à adopter son budget non équilibré, autorisation sujette aux conditions et modalités qui seront indiquées par ce dernier.

Note d'appréciation. M. Roland Vallières tient à remercier les commissaires et les administrateurs pour les gestes posés lors de son séjour à l'hôpital.

$53,000 in assistance to Pontiac MRC

Mr Robert Middlemiss, MNA for Pontiac, has pleasure in announcing, jointly with Mr Marc-Yvan Côté, Minister of Transport responsible for Regional Development, a grant of $53,000 to the Pontiac MRC.

This financial assitance, which comes from the Regional Development Fund (FDR) of the Québec Planning and Development Bureau (OPDQ), will be used to enlarge the MRC's administrative headquarters so that it can accommodate the major economic development agencies which are active in the area.

The Pontiac MRC authorities wish to encourage ventures which will improve the economic situation of the Pontiac. They have therefore decided that, as the building which houses the various departments has to be enlarged, they will take the opportunity to locate the economic development agencies under the same roof.

Their objectives are to facilitate co-operation between the various players and to give the clientele access to as many services as possible at the same location.

The total amount of space to be added is 1,927 square feet, half of which will be occupied by the economic services centre.

The total cost of the project is estimated at $200,000, of which $100,000 represents the cost of the premises to be occupied by the economic development agencies. It is this part of the $53,000 to which the grant from the Québec Planning and Development Bureau (OPDQ) will be applied. The Pontiac MRC will cover the remaining costs of enlarging the administrative centre.

Charteris ..... Cora McNeill 647-2191

Belated birthday wishes to Mr Wm Emmerson who was 92 years young on July 7th. He spent the day with his son Kenneth and Patsy and family and returned to the Pontiac Reception Center in the evening. He enjoyed the day with the family.

Sympathy goes out to the Sparling family and friends in the death of the late Mrs Clarence Sparling who passed away in Elliott Lake hospital after a lengthy illness. She was Faye Lathem and was born at Caldwell, a daughter of the late Mr and Mrs Alex Lathem.

Mr Lee Murphy is spending some time with his mother, Mrs Vreda Murphy.

We are having extremely hot weather. On Saturday, July 9th we had a nice hour or two of rain with quite a wind and lots of thunder and lightning. We had a phone call last Thursday from our daughter, Mrs Bernice Hodgins in Whitby and she said they haven't had rain for a couple of weeks and it is extremely hot and humid. Our temperatures here last week were up in the 100 degree F range.

Mr and Mrs Albert Lacasse and family of Ottawa, accompanied by Mrs Lacasse's father, sister and husband, spent the weekend at their camper in Charteris.

Todd and Sue Kline, Molly and Nathan of Charteris, have returned home after spending two weeks with Sue's mother in Ohio who is very ill.

Visitors with Elaine and Herb Lytle at McNeills Lake were Helen and Bob Tape, Cindie and Herbie Lytle Jr and Taryn from Ottawa.

We had a nice visit from Rev Barney Wood on Thursday.

Happy birthday wishes go out to Mrs Myrland Sparling. Mable will be 65 years young on July 17. We all join in wishing you a very happy birthday.
