Three drown at Quyon Ferry

Henry Côté untangles some of the cable used to retrieve the car from the Ottawa River following Sunday's accident, in which the late-model Cadillac plowed through the Quyon Ferry railing, drowning the three occupants. See page 3.

Three Ontario men drowned in the Ottawa River at the Quyon Ferry on Sunday afternoon.

The accident occurred at about 3:30 pm.

According to Quebec Police Force spokesman Richard Bourdon, there was a lineup waiting for the Quyon Ferry Sunday May 27. When the ferry was ready to be boarded, the first vehicle in the line, a burgundy Cadillac, took off very fast and went through the guard rail at the end of the boat, plunging into the water.

Emery Brophy, 82, of Nepean, Wayne Brown, 47, of Richmond, and Douglas Hartin, 22, also of Richmond, drowned in the accident.

Bourdon said that the bodies were recovered by Gilles Marcotte, a diver who happened to be in Quyon at the time of the accident.

The three bodies were taken to the CHRO (Centre hospitalier régionale de l'Outaouais) for an autopsy.

The car will be examined for the possibility of a mechanical defect.

Leslie Park for $1?

The Quebec Government, through SEPAQ (Société des établissements de plein air du Québec) is planning to sell Leslie Park and the MRC Pontiac wants to buy it for a dollar.

The 173-acre park includes a beach, a 135-lot campground, plus offices, laundry, and playground facilities. Starting bid for this part of the park is $178,500. Three other lots have also been put up for sale by SEPAQ.

At the MRC meeting Monday night, Warden Denis Larivière said SEPAQ had asked for bids on the park. The City of Maniwaki has bought a similar park in its area for a dollar and the MRC wants the same option.

"If SEPAQ sells the park the money will be taken out of the County and we would never see it again," Mr Larivière said.

The total starting bid for the four lots put up for sale by SEPAQ is $200,500.

"I am not suggesting we try to run the park ourselves, but it is a valuable piece of real estate, and if we can buy it for a dollar, we may be able to do something with it," added Mr Larivière.

Chatham Light is owned by the RKW Standardbred Limited Partnership and Bob Waxman of Ancaster, Ontario. Clay is a director of RKW Standardbred Associates Inc., the general partner of the Partnership and is a member of the partnership. Clay had suggested to Bob Waxman that the Connaught Cup would be the best possible opportunity for local harness racing fans to see Chatham Light. In winning the race in 1.53.3, Chatham Light eclipsed the former track record by a full two and two-fifths seconds, established a new Canadian all-age record for half-mile tracks and established a new world record for aged pacers on a half-mile track. He increased his seasonal earnings to $265,000 and his life-time earnings to in excess of $725,000. Left to right in the photograph, Robert Middlemiss, Clay Horner, groom Tom Martin of the Bill Robinson Stable, Chatham Light and driver Kelly Sheppard. In his previous race, Chatham Light had finished second in the $240,000 final of the George Morton Levy pacing series at Yonkers Raceway in New York City. This year is a comeback campaign for Chatham Light, also a world-record holder as a two-year old, who served stallion duty at Almahurst Farm, New Jersey, in 1989.

Chatham Light is also eligible for the Frank Ryan Memorial Pace and the Des Smith Memorial Pace, the two principal features of the summer racing program at Rideau Carleton Raceway in Ottawa.

Hydro Pontiac project hits a snag

by Denise Belec

The Hydro Pontiac Project may be running into a few snags.

After spending more than $800,000 for research and studies on the feasibility of the project and on an environmental impact study which should be presented to the MRC in June, the investors find they have hit one more obstacle.

The Coulonge and Crow company has leases on four of the lakes feed the Coulonge River, and had built dams on them to control water flow when that company was involved in wood floating.

The Hydro Pontiac project needs these lakes and the dams for the Hydro electrical project and since wood is no longer being floated on the Coulonge River, the Hydro Pontiac company wanted to use these dams for its project.

The hitch is that the Coulonge and Crow company is asking $1.5 million for its rights to the dams on the Giroux and Windfall lakes.

According to Pontiac MRC Warden Denis Larivière, if the lease is not transferred it will cost the company around $200,000 to return the river to the way it was before the dams were built.

The Hydro Pontiac company is ready to compensate the Coulonge and Crow company in accordance with the value of the dams to be established by professsionals assessors.

At the MRC meeting on Monday night, the council of Mayors voted unanimously to ask the Minister responsible, the Honorable Lise Bacon, to rescind the leases granted to the Coulonge and Crow company in favor of the Hydro Pontiac company within the shortest possible time in order that deadlines for construction of the hydro-electrical plant can be met.

400 ratepayers prefer Pontiac MRC

by Denise Belec

In one week, 400 people in the Municipality of Pontiac have signed a petition asking Council to join the MRC Pontiac in the eventuality of the restructuring of the CRO, or at least to call a referendum on the question.

In the absence of two councillors, the resolution to join the MRC des Collines passed on split vote on May 7 was recinded at the regular council meeting in Quyon, held Tuesday, May 22. A new resolution to join the MRC Pontiac was adopted on a 3 to 1 vote.

A special meeting called Friday, May 25, reversed this decision 3 for, 3 against with the mayor voting for joining the MRC des Collines.

An amendment proposed by Lawrence Tracey to ask Municipal Affairs to call a referendum or to delay the decision until after the municipal elections on November 4th was rejected 4 to 3.

Eddie McCann, one of the initiators of the movement within the Municipality of Pontiac to join MRC Pontiac, attended the regular meeting of the MRC on Monday night, and asked that the MRC demand of the Quebec Ministry of Municipal Affairs that the Municipality of Pontiac join the MRC Pontiac.

"We are Pontiac people and want to stay within Pontiac," said Mr McCann.

Watham Mayor Gerald Dempsey proposed that the MRC make a new resolution to be added to the one already made by the council of mayors, inviting the Municipality to join the MRC Pontiac.

This new resolution, accepted unanimously by the mayors informs the government that joining the Municipality of Pontiac to the MRC Pontiac would be an essential asset to the economic well-being of the MRC. The resolution also asks that the government take note of the will of the people of the Municipality of Pontiac.

Portage Bridge being repaired

Repairs on the Portage du Fort Bridge began last week. Motorist should be aware that traffic has been reduced to one lane.

Before it happens!

When you think about the fact that the Government of Quebec intends to correct its deficit by harming the good financial health of the municipalities, it's darn right unacceptable!

With the particular realities and challenges of each region, we need the help of both civil servants and municipal politicians.

Indeed, our 1500 municipalities and their «MRC's» are actually the true protectors of our day to day life.

Why turn everything upside down?

The government disavows its engagement signed ten years ago.

At that time, the fiscal agreement promised a public affairs administration that respects the autonomy of both partners.

Being aware of our limits for taxation, municipal governments want to continue offering the services that our families need.

There's nothing easy about life but...

It would be worst without the help of our municipalities.

Between a rock and a hard place

Ever since the resignation of Environment Minister Lucien Bouchard last week, the national media have been dominated by a "Doomsday Scenario." Unless the first ministers can soon accomplish some sort of magical compromise over the Meech Lake accord, the separation of Quebec is being treated as a fait accompli.

While Canada is preoccupied with its Constitutional debate, the nation's economy and environment suffer. Economically, Pontiac County stands to lose as much as anybody from instability between Ottawa and Quebec.

On the other hand, the harmony that exists between the anglophones and francophones in Pontiac ought to serve as an example for the rest of the country. Any separation between the two language groups would tear apart many households, even many individuals in Pontiac who trace an equal heritage to both sides.

The most common interpretation of the week's events has led to a grim forecast for the future of the country. To believe the commentary, Canada is now undergoing the most crucial period in its entire history, and after June 23rd, Canadians may wake up to the end of the country as they know it.

Putting aside all emotional reactions, most people would accept that the Québécois should be allowed to renegotiate their relationship with Canada in a manner that would allow them to realize their full potential, with no hindrance from any other cultural group. Whatever form of "renewed federalism" is required to accomplish this, it might be said that it will create a new country as we know it.

Having said that, it is also easy to understand why other provinces are adamant that this new contract not undermine the individual rights of Canadians. The collective rights of the Québécois and the individual rights of all Canadians have thus come head-to-head, with no easy solution in sight.

Even the most staunch defenders of the accord describe it as an "imperfect" document, that must nevertheless be passed in order to maintain Canadian unity. What exactly is the nature of the imperfection? Is it a deliberate sacrifice of minority rights in Quebec? Has it really come to this, that the high ideals of individual liberty are irreconcilable with the cultural needs of the people of Quebec?

The comparison to family relations is still valid here. Sometimes one must choose between strongly-held views of moral behaviour versus the reality of maintaining family harmony. Sadly, these situations often end in separation.

Is the Canadian family on the brink of such a rift? Is it ever advisable to compromise one's principles for the sake of keeping the peace? When democratic principles clash with cultural loyalties, which should predominate?

Such questions reverberate to the foundations of our belief system, and it would be madness to think such far-reaching issues can be resolved by the 23rd of June.

Ideally, the real people who actually make up the two founding nations of Canada should reject the political ultimatum fostered on them by the first ministers, and commit themselves to an ongoing mandate of reconciliation.

Unfortunately, this possibility has been hampered by a few hotheads on both sides, who insist on trampling on people's flags and freedoms for the purpose of promoting hatred. Would that all tolerant Canadians could separate themselves from such rabble-rousers.

The compromise recommendations of the Charest committee (which were based on public consultation) have been rejected out of hand by Quebec nationalists, both within and without the Mulroney cabinet. This immediate rejection raises the question of whether these ardent nationalists intend to respect the Charter of Rights when they legislate to protect the Québécois culture.

The objections of the three holdout provinces are not based on a rejection of Quebec's distinct nature, nor a refusal to enshrine that in the Constitution. They are merely based on a firm insistence that individuals not be made victims of this cultural fact.

If this is totally unacceptable to Quebec, it means that those who agree with Wells, McKenna and Filmon are being asked to suspend their democratic principles for the sake of Canadian unity. If this is the only choice, it should at least be made consciously, knowing full well that it amounts to placing the ideal of social peace above that of social justice.

Surely there must be some way around such a dilemma, but if a way has been found, it has not yet been announced by the first ministers. If any true solution can be discovered by these men, their efforts could serve as a shining example to everybody caught painfully between a rock and a hard place.

If nothing new emerges from the eleventh-hour efforts of Mulroney et al, there will be no option for all Canadians but to hold their noses and accept the outcome.

Looking around the community, it seems doubtful that any course of action by a handful of temprorarily-elected officials could seriously jeapordize the good will and mutual respect that forms the basic fabric of Canada.

Letters to the Editor

Landfill consideration

Dear Editor:

To you commuters and users of Hwy 148 who have second thoughts for opposing the landfill site, remember that the Provincial government has done nothing to Highway 148 in years! Winter is often the most nerve-racking driving period. Think about landfill trucks on a cold winter day with enough snow on the ground to make the road greasy. Some trucker has just dumped his last load about 4:30 pm, running a bit late. He runs a little quicker than he normally would. Or you've had a long, hard day and you are rushing a little too much to get home before dark. This is normal.

A major accident is an awful experience to go through but to walk away from a major truck-car accident is rare. If you experience this it will change your life one way or the other. Our roads from Aylmer to Luskville are totally, I mean totally, inadequate to handle commuter and commercial trucking at the volume they are requesting us to.

Look at Highway 17 across the river and the nightmare it is. Don't tell me that you can compare the highways. But you want trucks, truckers and more trucks on 148? Absolutely insane.

Concessions on the highway must be given beforehand, not after the fact and so many people have died, as it is now with Highway 17 and it still claims lives every week.

And what, just what, if in 10 to 50 years down the road, this chemical- producing dump site does end up creating unforeseen and some irreversible serious problem, whether it be with water tables in the land or pollutants in the river? Who will fix it all up then, and how long, if ever, will land be of use or how much worse will the river get?

The questions are too late for the asking when it is all started up.

As for an article in one of our papers, written by a California lady visiting here a while back, living in a land which has been told by authority that it will be devastated by earthquakes. It is easy for her to say we are naive by being protective of our Pontiac. But I believe she is breathing from an oxygen mask in L.A., looking through dense pollution fog at four lanes of bumper to bumper traffic worrying about her next big mortgage payment and wishing that she had stayed right here.

We don't need your grief, lady. If you want to come and visit that is okay. If you want to live here that's even better. But don't push your big city ideas on us here. I've been there and back. You keep them and all of your baloney, too. Shake your way off the American Continent if you want. We'll feel bad. We'll send relief and prayer.

I'm lucky and awfully thankful to be a part of such a historic piece of our County here in the Pontiac. Please don't just consider facts. This land has been my father's and his father's and so on.

Our provincial government has offered us garbage in the past, it is offering us garbage at the moment and until it takes its blinders off, I won't take garbage in the future.

Yours in a united but not unilingual Quebec,
Barry Beardsley

A special hero

Dear Editor:

I read The Equity each week and take great pride in its contents.

I enjoy reading 25 years ago, 50 years ago, 75 years ago, and 100 years ago. It brings back many memories up to 50 years ago for me.

I am a vet of the Korean War and wrote many letters to the editor during that time. I suppose every person around Shawville has a special hero of one of the wars including myself and mine is Holly Pirie.

Holly spent quite some time in Europe during WWII. At the end of the war, he signed on to serve in the Japanese Crisis. So, he was sent back to Canada for a short vacation before going to the Far East. However, while on vacation, he was drowned in a swimming accident at Bryson.

I witnessed many funerals in my lifetime but never saw one as large as Holly's.

I tip my hat to all of Holly Pirie's relatives because you had a great brother, uncle or cousin.

Legion Calls for Unity

Dear Editor,

The Royal Canadian Legion has called upon federal and provincial politicians to set regional issues and party politics aside and resolve the current constitutional crisis which is threatening the very future of Canada.

"The Legion supports the ideal of a unified Canada under a strong, effective central government," said Gaston Garceau, the Legion's Dominion President.

"We have asked our 700,000 members, affiliates and auxiliaries to actively promote this view and to behave tolerantly towards their fellow Canadians, regardless of racial, cultural, linguistic or religious considerations," he said.

In addition to mobilizing their membership to promote unity, the Legion has sent letters to the Prime Minister, the leaders of the Federal Liberal and New Democratic Parties, Members of Parliament, Senators, Provincial Premiers and Members of the Provincial Parliaments imploring them to cease their bickering and get on with the business of nation building.

The letter says that a break-up of Canada would be affront to the memory of the 114,000 Canadian men and women who died in wars to preserve the ideals and values we all hold so dear today. It also notes that history will record forever the names of those elected representatives who presided over the death of the Canadian nation.

Canadian unity is one of the major issues which will be discussed at the Legion's biennial convention in Vancouver this June.

Bishops Speak to Minority Rights

Dear Editor:

The Ontario Conference of Catholic Bishops, at the conclusion of their spring plenary meeting, April second to fourth, 1990, issued a statement with respect to the question of minority rights. The furor which has arisen with respect to the French-English question following the action of certain communities impelled the Bishops to restate their position with reference to the unity of Canada as expressed in their 1979 statement.

The Bishops offered their "support and encouagement to the two founding languages as precious and positive inheritances" and stated: "We believe that history and the spirit of Confederation indicate that French and English were languages of the founding races and must be given a privileged position as our official languages."

The Bishops urged all Canadians "to examine their attitudes" and to recognize the value of linguistic differences. They cautioned against using the proportion between English and French as a factor in making decisions about minority rights and stated: "We would hope the generous appreciation of the contribution of French-speaking groups of the country and a respect of their right to preserve French as one of the founding languages of the land would be uppermost in the minds of all."

The Bishops cited the comments of Pope John Paul II during his 1984 visit to Canada when he stated that "mutual love between all the different communities...becomes an immense power for good...and an effective instrument of service to humanity."

The Bishops concluded their statement: "We would like to remind one and all, especially those in public office, of their responsibilities to promote mutual understanding and concern for the common good" so that the unity which Christ prayed for, under a common Father, would be something to which we may well indeed aspire and hopefully achieve.

It's Bristol's decision

Dear Editor:

I see by the May 9th edition that Portage du Fort and Fort Coulonge have decided that Bristol Township should have a landfill and recyling plant at the Hilton Mine.

As this question belongs to the Municipality of Bristol, what right do they have to interfere in our business?

We do not tell them how to run their municipality.

Sincerely
I Dorrance
Bristol, PQ

The Hay Day will be held at Agnew Farms (Gerald, Tom & Bill Agnew). The farm is located on the 7th Concession of Bromley Township in Pine Valley.

The program will consist of demonstrations and discussions of the various types of equipment for cutting, processing, storing and handling hay. This year the emphasis will be on large round bales and as a special feature there will be a demonstration of a Tubolator, a Flexi Wrapper and a Tube Line Hay Wrapper, machine used to wrap large round bales as round bale haylage. There will be a concession booth on the premises to purchase refeshments. As well as equipment being demonstrated and on display, there should be a display of agri-business, of hay preservatives and other materials used in the processing of hay to ensure optimum quality.

Standard Church. The new Standard Church now reaching completion towards the west end of Shawville on Main Street will hold an official opening duting the coming weekend.

Fort Coulonge. To open the baseball season at Fort Coulonge Baseball park there was a parade that will be long remembered. Leading the parade was Mayor F X Bertrand and Councillor Alec Francoeur, followed by Mansfield councillor Villemaire Soucie, the Provincial Police, and the Fort Coulonge ball players.

Track Records Broken. Twenty-nine records fell last Friday as Pontiac County held its 11th annual track and field meet for Onslow and Shawville students.

Gary Russell led the slaughter on the records, followed by Gary Reynolds, Wayne Wallace, Pat Sheppard, Judy Wilken, Sue Hortie, Bob Smith, Glen Elliott, Elson Schock, and Bill Murray.

Teen & Twenty. Patricia Poisson of Campbell's Bay was crowned Miss Shawville Teen and Twenty for 1965 Friday night by Club President Gary Richardson and treasurer Kathy Turner.

The other contestants were Bev Tanner, Sandra Herault, Zita Ladouceur, Sharon Brown, Shirley Routliffe and Robyn Hortie.

Pontiac House Sold. During the past week, Mr W J G Gibson became owner of the Pontiac House, which has been owned and operated for the past nine years by B H Cochrane and Son, who came to Shawville from Prescott, Ontario.

Some months ago, Messrs Cochrane acquired a large hotel business in London, Ont.

Mr Gibson intends taking over the business this week, but will continue to operate his transport business.

YPU Play. With an audience that corded the Theatre hall to capacity on Friday night, the Shawville United Young People's Union presented ther ninth annual play, "Meet the Medicine Man." The title role was taken by Wendell Wilson in his usual flamboyant style, while other humourous parts were taken by Kay Woodley, Isobel Sly, and Jessie Armstrong. More serious characterizations were given by Geo Eades, Thomas Flack, Bob Hodgins, Helen McLean, Walter Kilgour, Clarence Dean, Marion Lester, and Mrs Ross Schwartz.

Conservative Meeting. Although weather conditions were rather unfavorable, and farmers were still too busy with their spring operations to take a day off, there was, nevertheless, a very representative gathering at the mass meeting of the Liberal Conservative party, held in Shawville on Tuesday afternoon last for the purpose of reorganization.

In the absence of the late president of the Association – Mr R W Ralph – Mr N Lackie of Allumette Island, ex-Warden of the County and 1st Vice-President of the Conservative Association opened the meeting by calling on Mr Brabazon, the present member for the Commons, for a few remarks.

Mr Brabazon said that he felt that Dr S J McNally would be of great assistance to the organization serving in the office of president. Dr McNally's nomination was moved by Messrs H T Argue and Edward Davis and unanimously carried.

While discussion was in progress, the door opened and in walked Hon J C Doherty, the Minister of Justice, accompanied by his private secretary. The chairman immediately introduced him to the audience, whereupon the minister gave a very eloquent address, in which he referred to the foresight of the Conservative party, which saw with prophetic eyes the great world-wide war coming, and because they tried to make all the preparation possible, the Liberal party took and opposite view.

He eulogized Sir Robert Borden in his foresight in preparing this country for the conflict.

Born. At Shawville on May 24th, to Mr and Mrs Armen Hodgins, a daughter.

John L. Mr John L Hodgins, one of our local machine agents, is erecting a large building for stables and store-rooms, west of his home facing Lang Street.

Victoria Day. Victoria Day passed off very quietly in town, nearly all the young people making an early exit for other points. As ususal, the Quyon river and other haunts of the brook trout claimed attention of the greater number. Some of the parties fared well, but the majority shared the proverbial "fisherman's luck": yet few regrets were expressed, the final day's outing recompensing for piscatorial shortcomings.

Here and There. Pure maple Syrup, only $1 per gallon, at Jas Hodgins & Sons.

Mr John Hodgins of Thorne has undertaken the erection of a cheese factory, the framework of which Mr D J Moore is now engaged at.

Mr Michael Cahill of Fort Coulonge was in Shawville on Friday last posting up the proclamations summoning the attendance of the electors at Bryson on the 10th of June next for the purpose of nominating candidates for the Legislative Assembly.

The 24th. The members of the S of T lodge and a few others to the number of about 30 persons drove from here to Norway Bay on Saturday to celebrate the anniversary of the natal day of our most gracious Soverign. On reaching the grounds the young folk disported themselves in various ways until noon brought the desire to discuss the supply of good things which the ever-thoughtful ladies had provided. This mportant part of the proceedings over, the party drove to "the Mines," where another pic-nic was in progress. Here the attendance was pretty large, and the attractions included, among other things, a football match between the Bristol and Bristol Mines teams. The Shawville contingent watched the match for a while but were unable to remain to see it out. At the time of their departure, Bristol team had secured three goals to nothing. The Shawvillians came back to the Bay again, where they partook of tea before returning home.

Those of our citizens who preferred celebrating the 24th at home indulged in a game of cricket in the afternoon.

Portage du Fort. A few of our citizens attended the sports at the Portage du Fort driving park on Saturday. The report that the crowd in attendance was not very large, nor were there any crack horses. A green race and a "free for all" comprised the programme, as far as trotting was concerned.

A game of baseball between the Vinton and PDF clubs was played on the grounds in the afternoon, and the juveniles of The Fort and Bryson also had a contest for the supremacy of "the diamond." A dispute ended the match with Vinton, and the PDF lads worsted the Bryson antagonists.

The Drive. Reports from the lumber districts of the Upper Ottawa are to the effect that the timber and sawlog drives have been considerably retarded by the backward spring weather. This is especially the case on the northern side of the Ottawa, where the season is at least a fortnight behind that on the south shore. Mr Robert Hurdman says that reports from the Kippewa district last week are to the effect that the ice had not melted on several of the lakes up to the 15th of May. There is also considerable snow yet remaining in the back woods around the Blue and Sand Lade sidtricts. From other sources it was learned that log drives of several firms have already been floated down the tributary streams and are now in the Ottawa River.

Seat belt campaign

by Denise Belec

For the next three weeks, the Quebec Police Force will be conducting special operations aimed at increasing awareness concerning the use of seatbelts by motorists.

A study by the Régie de l'assurance automobile du Québec shows that 80% of front seat passengers use their seatbelts. This number drops for back seat passengers.

The objective of this campaign is to bring up to 90% the use of seatbelts for front and back seat passengers.

Since January 1st, it has been mandatory for back seat passengers to wear their seat belts.

The fine for not wearing a seatbelt is $45 plus two demerit points.

The campaign is a collaboration between various Outaouais police forces and the Régie de l'assurance automobile du Québec.

Jets roar at Luskville Dragway

by David Moore

Two jet funny cars were hot draws at the Luskville Dragway track on Sunday May 27th, adding to the weekly racing program.

Both jet drag racing teams that competed Sunday work out of the New England area and put on a great show for the crowd at Luskville.

Before the actual run, the drivers go through their ritual of flames and roaring turbines as they edge their way to ward the line. Then in a blink, they rip down the strip in less than seven seconds.

The cars put in three runs on the track in between heats of the regular drivers, to keep the spectators captive. The jet funny car Eastern Rider driven by Al Hanna, put in the best times of the day, crossing the finsh line with a track record for jet funny cars. Hanna hit 262 mph in 6.10 seconds in the third his final run.

Taking the Super Pro class in the races was Wayne Whynacht from Kanata, Ontario.

Lise Losey of New York state won top spot in the Street class.

Shawville's Tom Orr slips down the quarter mile with ease, winning the second heat in his class. Orr was eliminated for not keeping his time.

Future Farmers choose Beck crest

by David Lucas

Members of the Future Farmers held a secret ballot among themselves on Friday, May 18th, to determine a new crest for their group.

Five or six members participated in the event, with Jackie Beck winning the competition. For her efforts, she received $25.

The new crest is to be unveiled at a private barbecue June 9th. The design consists of a map of Quebec with a silo and barn within the map. The plan is for a group of animals around the barn added to the design.

The Future Farmers also had a guest speaker at the May 18th meeting. Marc Clement spoke to the group on the subject of forage crops. Clement showed slides and answered any questions that the members of the Future Farmers had.

Selects sweep 2nd annual fundraising tournament

by David Moore

The Portage du Fort Selects swept through the R L Forestry team to move on to take the A Division of the Second Annual mixed 3-pitch ball tournament to benefit the Developmental Centre.

The Developmental Centre is a specialized teaching facility for handicapped students, located at Dr S E McDowell elementary School in Shawville.

The Selects jumped ahead early in their opening match of the weekend on Saturday, May 26th with R L Forest, and stayed on top throughout, trouncing them 11-3.

The Portage Selects slipped past the Portage Juniors 4-0 in the second game, and then closed out the tournament with a decisive 7-5 win over the House of Flowers to clinch the "A" Division.

In the "B" Division, Calumet Island won over R L Forest, 8-3 for the Division title.

Twelve teams participated in the tournament to aid the Development Center at McDowell School.

A presentation of the proceeds will be made to the School later this week, says tournament organizer Dwight Tanguay. He gives a "rough estimate" of around $2,500 raised.

Young Farmers off to Manitoba

by David Lucas

Ten members from the Quebec Young Farmers will be going on a exchange trip to Dauphon, Ethelburg, Manitoba this summer. If all goes as planned, they will be leaving by July 26th and will be gone for ten days to learn more about farming and make new friends from other parts of the country.

The group has been trying to get organized for the trip since last December.

Chris Judd, father of QYF member Scott Judd, sent in a letter of application to the Canadian National 4H Council. "In February, we heard that we were accepted, but we didn't really find out (officially) until March," said Nancy Pirie, the president of the Young Farmers.

The members raised money by going on a bottle drive last Victoria Day.

They went to Shawville and surrounding areas and raised $460. Chris Judd was hoping for $750.

The National 4H Club is paying for the exchange, and the membes of the Young Farmers only need to provide $11 each for insurance purposes.

The members who are leaving to Daupon, Ethelburg, are as follows: Robbie Beck, James Tracy, Stephen Sharpe, Robbie Beck, Ian Lang, Grant Horner, Sonny Brownlee, Tina Judd, Nancy Pirie, Allan Hodgins, and Robert Lang. Chaperone will be Louis Laterre.

The trip will last ten days and they will be returning along with the ten other members of the 4H Club from Manitoba. The cultural exhange members then will have ten days to visit Pontiac farms.

Les petits chanteurs de Laval à l'Ile du Grand-Calumet

par Denise Belec

Les Petits Chanteurs de Laval ont donné deux magnifiques concerts à l'Eglise Ste-Anne de l'Ile du Grand-Calumet dimanche dernier.

Le groupe, composé de 60 garçons et de quinze hommes, est venu à l'Ile à l'invitation de la communauté. Un des jeunes chanteurs, Mathieu Leduc agé de 10 ans, est le fils de Monique Mantha, native de l'Iledu Grand-Calumet et de Michel Leduc, un ancien policier du poste de Campbell's Bay de la Sûreté du Québec.

Les Petits Chanteurs de Laval sont reconnus internationalement. Ils se sont produits partout en France, en Belgique, au Québec et en Ontario.

A la fin du concert de l'après-midi, Gregory Charles, le directeur des petits chanteurs, a remis des cadres aux principaux intervenants qui ont permis la réalisation de ces deux concerts.

Concours Lionel Groulx

par Denise Belec

Quatre étudiants de l'Ecole secondaire Sieur de Coulonge, Nadine LaSalle, France Lagarde, Josée Mousseau et Marc Dufour ont participé au concours annuel d'histoire, Lionel-Groulx.

Le thème du concours de cette année portait sur le 50 e anniversaire du droit de vote des femmes au Québec.

La première section du concours comportait un test objectif comptant pour 60 points. Pour la deuxième partie, les étudiants devaient écrire une dissertation sur deux des trois sujets suivants: Comparer la situation des travailleuses du début du siècle avec celle des travailleuses d'aujourd'hui; Quelle était la situation de l'enseignement ménager dans le système scolaire au Québec et pourquoi cet enseignement fut-il critiqué? et, Comment la situation des québécoises a-t-elle évolué depuis l'obtention du droit de vote des femmes au provincial?

L'examen de Nadine LaSalle, la gagnante au niveau local, sera envoyé à Montréal pour la sélection régionale. Les textes gagnants au régional seront ensuite envoyés à la compétition nationale. Les 10 gagnants seront connus en octobre prochain lors du Congrès des professeurs d'histoire du Québec.

False Security

For those of us in rural areas who have no blue box program, recycling appears to be an environmentally responsible and desirable system to lobby our municipalities for.

Although its value is great, we just have to look at last weekend's Shoe comic to understand that recycling alone is not the total answer.

It is not merely because of the reprocessing that must take place to convert used paper, metals or glass into other products.

Recycling gives us all an "easy out".

It provides an excuse to maintain our present levels of consumption. Instead of reducing the volume of tinned goods, paper products that we purchase, recycling lulls us into a false sense of security. Recycling implies that it does not matter how much we buy if the waste product(s) produced can be recycled.

What we need to do is to focus upon the other "Rs" of the waste reduction equation: reduce and reuse.

It is only through a demonstrated willingness to cut back that we can reduce the amounts of waste we all produce.

Facts and figures are there for the statistically curious. The common denominator to all of the facts is that we produce too much waste.

The problem is becoming increasingly complex for rural areas, and the Pontiac is no exception. Scattered about our countryside are many municipal dumps.

As they fill, new sites are dug out and used.

What percentage of our own garbage is unnecessary waste? How often can we simply dig another landfill site here in the countryside without endangering our aquafer? When will we run out of dump sites? How many tire piles do each and every one of us know about that pose a known hazard? How many stacks of batteries, piles of unused old paint, machine oil is simply "hanging around", lurking in our backyards, our garages?

Unlike our neighbours in Ottawa who have a recycling program, here in the Pontiac we are even more dependent upon our own innate good sense and judgement. It behooves us to take special care of exactly which products we buy and exactly how much of it we need to buy. We need to keep an open mind to information that can help us assess what is a good product to buy in these days of green marketing.

Because we do not have the luxury of a recycling program here in the Pontiac, we must be even more responsible than our city cousins.

Does this mean we should not push for recycling in the Pontiac?

No.

Recycling is a positive part of the waste management cycle that would be of great benefit to our municipality. I look with envy at Ottawa's hazardous waste days, for example, and wish that our municipality — perhaps in conjunction with bordering municipalities — could sponsor such events.

These are days when community residents can take toxic substances to designated sites for pick-up and removal. It provides an opportunity to get rid of paints, industrial strength cleansers, batteries and many other dangerous items that many of us have around the house, in our garages or about the farm.

Many municipalities are struggling with the waste management issue, ours included. In many cases there is an acute awareness of the problems, but not many answers about how to go about solving them.

City of Ottawa aldermen struggle with charging residents a fee for each garbage bag they have picked up at the curbside. The issue keeps on raising its head. Our former environment minister, Lucien Bouchard talked of invoking environmental taxes.

Whether or not the partial remedies of taxation or recycling become a part of our lives here in the Pontiac, the basic problem remains the same. Too much waste.

By all means, let us get a recycling program if we can here in the Pontiac.

But if we do, let us not delude ourselves into thinking it is "The Solution", because it isn't.

Are there advantages to drawing a QPP retirement pension before 65?

A person who is between the ages of 60 and 65 and who has stopped working or whose employment earnings, calculated on an annual basis, are less than $6925 can receive a retirement pension under the Quebec Pension Plan. The amount of the pension will be reduced by 1/2% for each month preceding the person's 65th birthday (that is, by 6% a year).

The case of Philippe. Philippe has always made the maximum annual contribution. Since he will stop working in June, when he reaches the age of 60, he could be entitled to a retirement pension as early as July 1990. If he chooses to begin drawing his pension in July 1990, he will receive $403.96 a month (indexed annually).

This amount represents the maximum amount payable at the age of 65, that is, $577.08, reduced by 30% (1/2% x 60 months). If instead, he waits until he reaches 65 years of age in July 1995, he will receive a pension that could be as high as $700 a month.

If Philippe chooses to wait until the age of 65 to start drawing his pension, he will lose about $27,000, that is, the total pension amount that he would have received between the ages of 60 and 65, plus interest income of approximately $5,000 after income tax, for a total of $32,000.

Since the amount of a pension payable starting at the age of 65 is higher, how many years would it take Philippe to make up the $32,000 that would have been paid to him if he had drawn his pension between the ages of 60 and 65?

By choosing to wait until July 1995 to draw a monthly pension of $700 rather than benefit right away from a pension of $403.96 a month, indexed annually by 5%, Philippe would forfeit $32,000 during the five-year interval. It would then take him 22 years to recover that amount, and he would have to live past the age of 87 before he started making a profit!

With a few exceptions, including beneficiaries of social aid, unemployment insurance or veteran's allowances, it is generally advantageous for a person who stops working between the ages of 60 and 65 to start drawing a retirement pension as soon as possible. If in doubt, it is preferable to consult a financial adviser.

Safer environment friendly products

Need help with your spring cleaning? Use the Big Six Safer Substances and you'll make a healthier, as well as cleaner, home. The Big Six of environment-friendly cleaning are:

1 VINEGAR: removes mildew, stains and wax buildup.

2 PURE SOAP: cleans everything from dishes to cars.

3 BAKING SODA: cleans, deodorizes, scours, polishes, removes stains and softens water and fabrics.

4 WASHING SODA: softens water and cleans clothes. It is mildly toxic-wear gloves and provide ventilation.

5. AMMONIA: cleans carpets, vinyl flooring, copper and enamel, dissolves grease. Wear gloves and provide ventilation.

6. BORAX: cleans wallpaper, painted walls and floors. Deodorizer, stain remover, mild antisceptic, degreaser and is a laundry booster.

Collecting recipes for techniques and cleaners using these ingredients is an old housekeeping hobby. Some special tricks are closely-guarded secrets, but in honour of Environment Week we will let you in on a few!

Timing is the most important technique to keep in mind. Stains are most easily removed right after they happen. Frequent cleaning is the easiest way to avoid using harsh, toxic chemicals.

Empty plastic soap bottles come in handy to contain your new cleaning products. A stiff bristled brush, a dish scrubber, cotton rags, and spray bottles complete yourequipment. Soak the labels off the old plastic bottles and write with an indellible marking pen: your name for yourcleaner, its uses, the list of ingredients and cautions for its handling.

Spray bottles are preferable to aerosols. Some aerosols still contain ozone-layer depleting CFCs. Another reason not to buy aerosol cans is that, full or empty, they are explosive and pose a serious danger to those who handle their disposal. Pure soap is preferable to detergents because detergents do not get broken down in the sewage-treatment plant and go on to feed algae which clog waterways and choke out fish and other wildlife.

Every Day Cleansers

-Pour into a spray bottle: One half cup of vinegar and one cup water. Spray and wipe countertops. No rinsing, vinegar freshens the air.

Cleanser: Baking soda used dry like a scouring powder cleans sinks, tub, refrigerator and teeth (!) For stains on the counter make a paste of soda and water, scrub, leave paste on stain for half an hour and sponge off.

Laundry

- Replace chlorine bleach with Borax, which is easier on clothes, so that clothes will last longer. (Chlorine bleach has been found to create cancer-causing dioxins and furans in the water system.)

Laundry soap: Add one third cup of washing soda to water as machine fills. Add clothes after it has dissolved. Add one to one and a half cups of pure soap flakes or powder (such as "Ivory"). In hard water add one quarter cup of washing soda or one half cup of vinegar to rinse cycle as a fabric softener.

-To avoid yellowing, wash clothes with one third cup of washing soda and cold water to remove detergent residue before switching soap.

Dishes

-Replace dish detergent with liquid soap: Dissolve laundry soap flakes in water and keep in a squirt bottle. Add vinegar to dish water for greasy dishes.

Dishwasher soap: Mix one cup Borax with one half cup of baking soda.

Metal Cleaners

The key here is regular cleaning.

Copper: Use lemon juice and salt, or hot vinegar and salt.

Chrome: Use dry baking soda and a dry cloth, or use a little ammonia and hot water.

Silverware: Soak tarnished silver in a bowl with a solution of one Tbs baking soda, one Tbs salt in one quart warm water. Add a small piece of aluminum foil. Replace the foil when it turns black from the tarnish it picks up from the silver. Toothpaste on a soft dry cloth also works well.

Pets

-Pet stains on carpet: blot then sponge with club soda. Clean with solution of one third cup of water.

Getting the bugs out

-Put a tablespoon of brewers yeast (pets like the taste) into your pet's food to prevent flea infestations. Also a cushion filled with cedar chips (from a pet store), chamomile, pennyroyal leaves or rue will repell fleas.

-Plant spray: Add one heaping Tsp of dish soap to one cup of water and pour into a spray bottle and shake. Thoroughly spray all sides of infested plant three times over a period of ten days.

Come to the first annual Environment Fair on June 8 (see the community calendar for details) to see demonstrations of the cleaning abilities of home-made planet-friendly cleaners and receive free recipes to take home and try. Many more recipes and tips can be found in two recent books: "Home and Family Guide", by Harmony Foundation with support from the Royal Bank and "The Canadian Green Consumer" by Pollution Probe.

Shawville Lions help CHEO

The Shawville Lions Club will be working hard to help raise money for CHEO's tiny hearts, during the seventh annual Children's Miracle Network Telethon.

The Telethon will begin at 8:00 pm Saturday, June 2nd and end at 6:00 pm Sunday, June 3rd. It will be broadcast on CJOH-TV.

The Shawville Lions will be at PPHS in Shawville during those same hours to accept donations for CHEO. To make a donation call 647-2244 or visit PPHS.

The money raised during this year's Telethon will go to fund laboratory space and research programs at the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario. The Foundation has already funded research into anabolic steroid use among Ottawa high school students, the effect of insulin on developing lungs, and bone growth following injury.

The goal of the Foundation is to encourage collaborative efforts in finding solutions to health problems in children. In keeping with CHEO's tradition of high quality health care for our Children, research must further assist this endeavour by seeking innovative solutions. The Children's Miracle Network Telethon again provides an opportunity for our community to show their support.

The telethon will be co-hosted by Donnie Payn, representing the patients at CHEO; Max Keeping and Wayne Rostad.

Local patient at CHEO

Connie Harris, a grade nine student at Pontiac Protestant High Shcool in Shawville, gets high marks for determination. Although she's been in and out of the Children's Hospital for seven years, this young lady is determined to overcome any obstacles that come her way.

Like many teenagers her age she enjoys volleyball, baseball and going to local high school dances.

But Connie is different. She suffers from a condition which makes her nauseous, and gives her high fevers and extreme migraine headaches. In 1983, her doctors discovered that there was pressure on her spine which was causing these symptoms. The doctors then did a spinal tap to drain the fluid, which was causing the pressure.

Last March, Connie was at the Hospital for one entire month to run tests to discover what was causing the continuous symptoms. Dr. Jacob, a neurologist at CHEO, ran all of the usual tests: CT scans, bloodwork and spinal taps. The results were all negative. "What Connie is suffering from is a pseudo-tumour. All of her symptoms point toward an abnormal growth, but all of the tests results keep coming back negative," says Dr. Jacob.

Connie Harris

On May 6, Connie returned to the hospital for one week to run more tests. The latest is called the Gallium Schan. It is similar to a CT-type scan by it looks for "hot spots" or inflammations. "We are also controlling the pressure of fluid build-up in her head," adds Dr. Jacob. Her condition is improving, but the cause is still not know.

Connie takes everything in stride but says her parents get worried for her. "They have complete confidence in the staff at CHEO, but it gets a little frustrating after awhile–especially when we really don't know what's causing this. At least it's not cancer though."

She has a tutor who visits her when she's in the hospital, so she won't lose her school year. Her favourite subjects are English and Biology. Connie would like to be a nurse when she's older and she is getting first-hand knowledge of what that job entails.

Meanwhile, Connie continues to lead the life of a 15-year-old. She likes listening to Samantha Fox and Milli Vinilli, and she loves to rent movies with her friends. The next movie on her agenda is "Look Who's Talking."

Little Travis Palmer celebrated his first birthday on Friday, May 25th. About 17 of the relatives came to help this wee lad celebrate. It was hilarious to watch him eat his chocolate cake and repaper his gifts. This wee guy is coming along really well. You'd never guess he had a percentage of poor hearing. He is wearing small glasses and is quite the pet.

His name is Travis not Francis as in last week's write-up. Noella Coughlin introduced the head table and not Eleanor Foran. Sorry gals!

What a flu bug going around. It came into our household and at least four of us got sick. We hadn't had a virus since we got the flu shot last October. It certainly pays to go for that needle.

A very sweet little girl has arrived in the Civic Hospital to Danny and Dianne Foran on May 25. Same birthday as Travis Palmer, only one year ago.

Rustic Rhetoric

by. E.B.W. Mulligan

Part # 2 Continued from last week

Growing up in the Pontiac in the 20's and 30's

1928 and on. Now, who remembers the Kewpie dolls when they came out.

There was a lot of barn building going on in the Pontiac when I remember the Belangers, Gallaghers, Mayers and there were others. The Champlain Bridge opened and they surveyed for the Chats Falls for a dam in 1928. Times were good and everyone was working either on the farm, on the river, in the bush or at the dam and bridge building far and near.

1929 started off on high but by October 29, after starting on September 20, the stock market crashed and no one knew that the great depression of the thirties had begun. The Kingdom Mine closed at Fitzroy Harbour to make way for coffer dams at Chats Falls. Sixty men lost their lives in Timmins where a lot of Pontiacers were working or seeking work.

Scotch tape, flash bulbs and frozen foods came out to the market. Songs were "Three Little Words", " I Got Rhythm" and "Walking My Baby Back Home". The fad in universities was to swallow live gold fish. Corine Wilson was made the first woman of the Canadian Senate. R B Bennett was Prime Minister and Charles Belec was our M.P.

Contracts were let out for logs and timber by Morrow and Beattie. Lengths of 16 feet to 51 feet were paid for on a graduated scale. Most of the best timber in Onslow, Bristol, Clarendon and even Leitchfield were sold at this time and it was a lifesaver for many farmers and workers.

Ottawa City Hall burned down. There were lots of idle men around. The Bouya was a great celebration every Fall during the depression 30's.

Man was searching for the sky. The Empire State Building reached 102 stories and 1250 feet as an example. The west was drying up with heat waves sending the temperatures to 110 degrees F.

1932 was one of the worst years for unemployment. Over one and a half million were out of work. A car went through the ice and Sam Lumden drowned. The first V-8 Ford was introduced. Farm prices still were going down past cost but farmers held on.

1933 - F D Roosevelt became president of the United States and all Canadians listened to his fireside chats. McLachlin Mill in Arnprior closed down. Dresses cost $3.95, rayon 39 cents yard, sardines 10 cents, P & G Soup 5 cents, underwear $1.29 but a Westinghouse 16 tube radio cost $99.00.

I took a trip up North and got work as a cook for three months. Many others from our County did the same. Hitler started his infamous campaign. Air passenger service started in the United States. Yearly telephone rates reduced to $8.00 annually. The United Church in Weirstead burned down.

1934 was a memorable year. The Dionne quintruplets were born, the first in the world to live. We all headed North again and found permanent or short-term work. Train ticket return to Boston cost $10.00, Murphy Gambles in Ottawa sold crying dolls for $1.25 and two pounds of chocolates for 99 cents. Stalin was terrorizing Russia. Junior farmer short courses were held in Shawville. The price of gold was raised from $20.67 to $35.00 per ounce.

In 1935 and 36 hard times were still with us. I and others found work up North in the mines. W R MacDonald was our M P and E C Lawn the MPP. The West was in the middle of the great dust storms. Three men were trapped in Moose River Mine and Frank Willis gave the first continuing news broadcasts heard every half hour from the mine.

King George the V died and King Edward VIII abduced the throne to marry Mrs Wallis Simpson. Geo. VI was crowned king on December 11, 1936. CBC formed CNR radio broadcasting failed. The famous Russel Hotel and the Post Office in Ottawa burned. Steelworkers Union was formed and standardized wages at 44 cents an hour. The Hindenbury crashed and burned.

It is ironic that many products of the twenties and thirties like Swift Bacon, Eveready batteries, Kellogg's breakfast food, Hershey chocolates, Kodak films, Lifesavers, Gillette razors, Crisco, Ivory soap, Coca-Cola, Campbell's Soup, Liptons Tea, Goodyear Tires, and Colgate toothpaste were on the market and they are all leaders even to today.

Pontiac Artists Tour catches eye of media

by Richard Wills

In the arts, setting is everything. The context in which a book or a painting is created goes a long way toward defining the result.

With this in mind, a group of Pontiac artists and writers have hit upon a new way of presenting their work to the public.

Six local artists and five writers have organized the first local Artists Tour, scheduled for June 9th and 10th.

The tour will invite the public behind the scenes, into the studios and workshops, to see creation in progress, and to view the artists' work in the settings that inspire it.

The concept of artists tours has been sucessful for several years in Van Kleek Hill. While taking in last year's similar tour in Wakefield, Clarendon artist Elke Bzdurreck and Quyon writer Katharine Fletcher decided the idea would be perfect for Pontiac. They found six local artists eager to invite the public into their private world for the weekend.

Media coverage

The novelty of the Pontiac Artists Tour has caught the eye of the region's media, and their coverage will provide a preview of the Tour for anyone who can catch the following broadcasts.

A CJOH-TV news team visited four of the participating artists on May 24th. Their program will be aired on Regional Contact on June 2nd.

CHRO-TV is also planning to air an interview with some of the participating artists and writers on June 8th at 9 pm.

CBC radio will be covering the story on their Radio Noon program on Thursday, June 7th, and also on In Town and Out on Saturday the 9th.

The Ottawa Citizen will feature the Artists Tour in both their Saturday, June 9th and Sunday, June 10th issues.

The artists

For years, Dale Shutt of Calumet Island has been creating handpainted silk artwear. "I transform the colours and art of nature into pieces of wearable art," she explains.

Anna Woods works with oils and acrylics in her North Clarendon studio. "The human spirit and how it is affected by change is the underlying theme of my work," sh says.

Elke Bzdurreck has become well known for her watercolours and etchings that portray the rural texture of Pontiac. Whether landscapes, people, wildflowers of animals, her works, it is said, "convey the character, beauty and seasonal rhythm of country life."

Working out of her studio at Green Lake, Lorene Hodgins McLean has also become well known for her depictions of local scenes and people.

Carol Bretzloff, (also a high school art teacher) creates sculptures from the natural landscape around her farm in Clarendon Front. Her works, she says, "celebrate the mystery...of the creative seed that stirs within the universe."

"Light, movement and form combine to provide a visual experience of the Eardley Escarpment," says Ruby Ewen of the oil paintings she creates at her Eardley studio.

A map of these six studios has been drawn up by Ms Bzdurreck, so that these studios may be viewed in a tour, stretching from Calumet Island down to Eardley.

The writers

Over the two days of the Artists Tour, five authors will gather at the home of Katharine Fletcher for a "Writers' Corner." During these sessions, the authors will give readings from their works, and explain the process of creation of their works.

Joan Finnigan is a poet and playwright who has become a major oral historian of the Ottawa Valley. Her books, such as Some of the Stories I Told You Were True, and Tell Me Another Story, recount the anecdotes of many well-known figures from the past of the Ottawa Valley. Her tales are gleaned from both sides of the river, but her Shawville background allows her access to some of the most colourful tales of the Pontiac.

In addition to being a regular columnist for THE EQUITY, Katharine Fletcher is the author of Historical Walks: the Gatineau Park Story. "In my writing," she says, "whether it be environmental or historical, I try to evoke the spirit and the challenges of our great country."

Tony German, who lives in Chelsea, has achieved national success with his "Tom Penny" series of novels for young people, and has now branched out into Canadian history.

Norma and Stuart Geggie have colaborated on a series of local histories, inlcuding their recent edition of the memoires of J Edgar Boyle, whose career in forestry centred in the Coulonge region.

More information on the Artists Tour can be obtained from Katharine Fletcher at 458-2090.

Suspect insect repellents banned

Barry Moore, M.P., for Pontiac Gatineau Labelle, would like to inform the population that effective immediately, more than 80 personal insect repellent lotions, sprays and pet care supplies containing the active ingredient Repellent II (R11) have been banned for sale in Canada.

The chemical is an ingredient used in about half the insect repelling products sold in Canada. Its U.S. manufacturer, McLaughlin Gormley King (MGK) of Minneapolis, Minnesota had voluntarily stopped sale of the product in North America based on preliminary results of tests on laboratory animals which suggest possible adverse reproductive and chronic effects.

Agriculture Minister Don Mazankowski has cancelled the registration of all products containing the active ingredient Repellent 11 based on assessments carried out by experts at Health and Welfare Canada.

The Department of National Health and Welfare is not aware of any reports of adverse health effects on human beings.

However, to be prudent, consumers are advised to avoid using any insect, repellents or pet care products containing the chemical. Agriculture Canada is advising retailers to remove any unsold product from their shelves.

The federal government is working closely with other levels of government and industry to ensure the health and safety of Canadians. Industry has been contacted in an effort to gain their cooperation and support.

For more information, a government of Canada toll-free information line (1-800-267-9675) will be operating daily from 8 am to 8 pm (EDT), effective immediately.

Kinsmen auction linked to trade fair

The profits from the Kinsmen Club's annual auction, set to go this weekend, will be put towards buying a $40,000 stress-tester for the Pontiac Community Hospital.

Project chairman Gordie Palmer says the Kinsmen hope to raise about $700.

The auction will be held at the Shawville Community Centre in conjunction with the Trade Fair.

Palmer says the Club has received private donations of furniture, appliances and bicycles so far and they're hoping to receive more by the end of the week. "We started asking for donations about seven weeks back but generally most of the stuff comes in the last week."

Trade Fair set for the weekend

by Kim Thalheimer

Organizers of the Shawville and District Trade Fair say more outside businesses will participate in this year's event and more than 50 booths will be set up with displays to suit just about anybody's interest.

Committee member Sherwin Greer says the fair will offer a range of merchandise from ice cream and arts and crafts to cars and machinery. "There'll be stuff for people in farming, for gardners, for homeowners and for just about anybody."

Greer says local businesses are a big part of the fair but more merchants from outside of Shawville are participating this year. "We've got a lot of businesses around town to participate and much more people from around the district setting up booths."

Greer says the committee is expecting about two thousand people to visit the fair. "We've been advertising around the district," Greer says. "We've got posters set up in Hull, Renfrew and Carp."

Greer says the idea behind the fair is to help out area merchants. He says the response from the business community has been positive. "It wasn't difficult to get people to participate at all. A lot of merchants just phoned in for it."

Among the fair's attractions is the Shawville-Clarendon Fire Department dunk tank. Spokesman Wayne Bohart says he hopes to get about a dozen people to participate. Last year's favorite who raked in $200 alone, John Atkinson, says he'll be ready to test the waters again this year.

Bohart says the department is hoping to raise about $600 to keep its equipment updated.

The trade fair will be held in conjunction with the annual Kinsmen's Auction at the Shawville Community Centre on Friday and Saturday.

Anyone interested in helping out a good cause, call Wayne at 647-2073.
